Princeton Football Looks to New Way of Life under Bob Casciola

September, 1973, marks the beginning of the Casciola era in Princeton football. More than three weeks before the opener with Rutgers, and nearly three months before the final standings in the Ivy race are posted, there are signs that the depths the sport has plumbed during the past two seasons have been reached, and will not be touched again in the foreseeable future.

Already at work for Casciola are factors ranging from relatively small losses through graduation to the return after a year's absence of a running back with as fine a potential as any ball carrier in the league. Intrinsicly, there has been since last March, when his appointment was announced, a surge of enthusiasm and an eagerness to begin the business at hand that is bound to occur when the problems inherent in an old regime appear to die with its demise.

Despite the presence of a representative number of skilled athletes during the past two years, rarely if ever did either the 1971 or 1972 teams give evidence that they were playing the brand of football of which they were capable. What dismayed Princetonians even more was that on various occasions, personnel garbed in Orange and Black were either visibly disorganized (the 10-6 loss in '71 to a markedly unimpressive Yale team), or barely going through the motions of completing the afternoon (either of the two most recent thumpings at the hands of Dartmouth, during which the Green outscored Princeton by a total margin of 68 to 21.)

In the months that have followed his appointment, Casciola has impressed on two counts, long before any of the 100-plus candidates for the 1973 team returned here for pre-season practice. He had barely been behind his desk in Jadwin Gymnasium for a fortnight before there was evidence of the degree of organization he could achieve in the form of announcements of staff appointments. In more than one instance, his ability to bring a key assistant to the new regime here helped create the belief in hard-nosed football circles along the east coast "that Casciola already has something going for him at Princeton."

Working for him, too, is the low-key approach he is bringing to the job at hand — one that bespeaks a lack of tenseness and at the same time complete awareness of what motivates today's college player. The 1973 Princeton squad figures to put greater effort into the task assigned than have either of its two immediate predecessors, and that in itself augurs for an upswing in the victory count.

"Last year," said a member of the Class of 1972, "most of the seniors were putting out 100% because they knew it was their last chance for a decent showing, but a lot of the other players weren't. If they all go all out this fall, they'll have a better year on the strength of that alone."

Equipped with at least an adequate number of front-line players, and bolstered by the almost tangible degree of enthusiasm that has

Bicycle Route Plan Ready for Introduction

Jauntily riding a bicycle built for two, Borough and Township together this week traced on a map Phase I of a new Bicycle Route Plan for the Princeton Community.

Because many of the new routes involve blacktop, which must be laid by November 1, the bike committee is impatient to begin and the first ordinances are scheduled for introduction Monday by Township Committee in Township Hall, and Tuesday by Borough Council in Borough Hall. Each one at 8 p.m.

"We want the public to attend these meetings and make a lot of comments and suggestions," said Barbara Sigmund, who was Borough Council's spokesman at a Tuesday press conference.

"It's easier to make changes now, than by amendment after the formal hearing," she added. Public hearings, as required by law, will be on later agendas.

Details of the proposed routes are at right.

Four to Six Feet Wide. The joint bike committee uses the word "routes" instead of the more familiar "bike paths" because the plan is more than just paths. Along some stretches it uses existing four-foot-wide sidewalks, in other places it takes to the actual roadway of a street, (although the plan's purpose is to minimize the use of streets). Elsewhere it is a new six-foot-wide blacktop path. Cyclists, pedestrians and cars are separated wherever possible.

Use of a six-foot-wide path for new routes is a major change from the original bike master plan. In that plan, routes were all four feet wide and pedestrians and bikes were mixed.

Primary emphasis in this first phase is on safe access to schools. Four of the routes lead to the new John Witherspoon Middle School and its neighbor, Princeton High.

Three schools have to be left out of this first phase — Riverside, Princeton Day and Stuart — but for the first time, there will be both pedestrian and bike access to Johnson Park School from the east, and to Littlebrook School from the west.

Mom and Dad, Too. A fifth route goes east-west along Hamilton - Wiggins, allowing cyclists to reach the center of town, the public library and the YM-YWCA. A spur of this route gives some access to St. Paul's School.

"We're eager to see how much the public uses this east-west route," said Mayor Cawley at the press conference. "We want to know if it will attract adults to the center of town."

Members of the bike committee estimate $30,000 as the cost of the plan to the Borough, and $30-35,000 as the cost to the Township.

The cost will be borne wholly by the municipal governments — that is, by all the taxpayers — except when a new sidewalk is designated as a bicycle route.

Both Borough and Township

governments have had a policy of assessing only half the cost of new four-foot-wide sidewalks to home-owners although New Jersey law allows charging the property owner the full amount. In the Township, under the new bike plan, when a six-foot-wide walk is constructed, the property owner won't be assessed more than one-third the cost. There will be no assessment for widening an existing sidewalk, or for building a path which isn't actually a sidewalk.

How to Widen. Existing sidewalks marked as bike

"Curb cuts have been a cause for concern by our Traffic Safety Committees," acknowledges Mrs. Sigmund, "but the National Safety Council says they are all right where there is no heavy traffic. Where there is heavy traffic — on those six streets — we'll have signs saying 'Dismount and walk your bike!'"

Future Plans. Phase I has come rather late in the year, and some of the program won't be completed until spring, the committee is

Proposed Bicycle Routes for Borough and Township

A. Starting at Nassau Street and Chestnut Street, north on the west side of Chestnut Street to Hamilton Avenue; thence north along both sides of Walnut Lane to Guyot Avenue.

B. Starting at Stockton Street and Library Place, north along the east side of Library Place to Hodge Road; thence east along both sides of Hodge Road to Bayard Lane; thence north along the east side of Bayard Lane to South Stanworth Drive and the private path at the east end of South Stanworth Drive to John Street; thence north along the west side of John Street to Community Park; thence along the Community Park School sidewalk to the school entrance on Witherspoon Street; thence north along the east side of Witherspoon Street to Guyot Avenue; thence east along the north side of Guyot Avenue to Jefferson Road (Note: widening of sidewalk on Guyot Avenue from Witherspoon Street to Carnahan Place, deferred); thence east along the south side of Guyot Avenue to Walnut Lane where it meets Route A.

C. Starting at Magnolia Lane opposite the east side of Abernathy Drive, north along the east side of Abernathy Drive to Snowden Lane; thence west along the north side of Snowden Lane and Franklin Avenue to Walnut Lane, where it joins Route A.

D. Starting at the northern end of Edgerstoune Drive, north along the path to Rosedale Road; thence east along the north side of Rosedale Road to the Johnson Park School access road; thence north along the east side of that road and the east side of projected Terhune Road to the old trolley right of way (Note: construction of a sidewalk in front of the school turn around, deferred); thence east along the old trolley right of way to a point to be determined; thence northwest to Elm Road opposite Westerly Road; thence along Westerly Road to Wilson Road; thence along Wilson Road to Westcott Road; thence east along the north side of Westcott Road to Bayard Lane; thence south along the east side of Bayard Lane to South Stanworth Drive where it joins Route B.

E. Starting at Route B at Bayard Lane and Avalon Place, east along the north sides of Avalon Place, Wiggins Street, and Hamilton Avenue (past Walnut Lane where it crosses Route A) to North Harrison Street; with a spur south from Hamilton Avenue along the east side of Moore Street to the parking lot behind St. Paul's Church and School.

routes will be widened to six feet (with a few exceptions listed below) by adding a blacktop strip on each side. Princeton University has been widening its campus paths this way, and has found that bike riders use the blacktop strips by preference, thereby automatically separating themselves from pedestrians.

Sidewalks that won't be widened are: (1.) the north side of Franklin from the Borough line to Walnut Lane. The existing walk is already five feet wide (2.) John Street. The widening strips wouldn't be usable by bike-riders in several places because of trees on one side and buildings on the other.

(3.) Existing four-foot walks along the north side of Franklin and Snowden will be designated "bicycle routes" from Tee-Ar to a point opposite Abernathy, and along the east side of Abernathy from Snowden to Magnolia with curb-cuts installed, except at Snowden. The bike committee wants to find out whether cyclists will use a four-foot walk with little pedestrian traffic, if there aren't any curbs to surmount. (4.) Hodge Road. East-bound cyclists will use one side of the road, west-bound the other.

To Cut a Curb? Curbs inhibit cyclists, and if a bike route has frequent curbs, it just won't be used. Curb-cuts have been planned, except at major intersections.

"We do not anticipate that a cyclist will dash across a street on a bike route any more than the same cyclist would dash across that street if riding on the pavement," the bike committee believes.

For safety reasons six streets will not have curb cuts: Bayard Lane, Elm Road, Witherspoon, Harrison, Snowden (by Littlebrook) and Rosedale.

Casciola Era Begins

marked his return to Princeton. Casciola knows how difficult it is to regain lost momentum and how essential it is to sustain an atmosphere of euphoria with periodic success. Squarely confronting him on the latter count is the fact that at least five of his nine opponents (Rutgers, Cornell, Colgate, Penn and Brown) figure to be stronger than they were a year ago; three (Harvard, Yale and Dartmouth) should be as good, and only Columbia appears in for a mediocre season.

In rebuilding, the new Tiger coach will not have one major asset that often hails out a rebuilding team. Occasionally, a proven defense will have a sufficient number of veterans returning so that time can be bought for an offense that will eventually prove superior to a number of its opponents. In the past two years, the Tigers' growl has sounded like a 45 rpm record turning at 33; in 8 of the last 11 games, the opponents' goal line was never crossed more than once.

Key Losses on Defense. But if this year's Princetonians are to win even half the time they set foot on the field, the offense must find a way quickly to hang points on the board, because the key losses through graduation were almost entirely on defense. Gone are tackle Carl Barisich, end Mike Kincaid and linebacker Joe Parsons. All-Ivy during their Princeton careers, and a sufficient number of other players so that the reserve depth chart literally includes only a name or two among 22 that even the most rabid Princeton fan will recognize.

"Lack of depth on the lines is the biggest problem I've got," Casciola says. "We certainly won't be able to substitute on a unit basis, and we'll just have to hope we don't run into key injuries."

So thin are the reserve prospects on both lines that not a single letterman is available in a reserve capacity for the seven positions up front on offense, nor for the front four on defense. Even two of the seven posts allocated to regulars on offense will go to non-lettermen, as will one of the front four on defense.

Five Quarterbacks Available. During the last three years of Jake McCandless' regime, the key trouble spot was quarterback. In 1969, Scott MacBean developed from a little used tailback in the last year of single wing football to a line quarterback one so good that the Tigers lost three of their first four games and still roared back to a three-way tie for the Ivy title with Dartmouth and Yale.

After MacBean departed with his diploma, malaise set in at the quarterback slot reaching a peak in 1971 when McCandless felt he should stick with Rod Plummer, who had been a good high school fullback and a fine defensive back here but never made it as a quarterback. Last year conceivably set a Princeton precedent—three different players got the starting assignment during the season but none could solve all the myriad problems confronting the Orange and Black.

Casciola will choose this year from among the trio of holdovers (seniors Fred Dalzell and Jim Flynn, junior Dave Mistretta) and the pick of the sophomore crop, Ron Beible (pronounced "Bee-ble"). Greg Adams, another sophomore is also a quarterback candidate but with three varsity holdovers and Beible in the picture, he is well down on the depth chart.

Because he prefers an offense that develops from a play action sequence, rather than a drop-back quarterback who throws out of the pocket, Casciola's field generals will have to qualify as good ball carriers to earn his approval. Of the five whose names went into the hat at the start of the season, Mistretta among the holdovers and the top sophomore, Beible, appear to have the greatest potential in this respect. To win the job, however, the proper blend of passing will have to be added.

"I hope to have the quarterback chosen by the time we finish the Army scrimmage on September 15," Casciola has said. "I'd like him to know two weeks before the season begins that he is going to have the job until someone can take it away from him."

One sure bet is that the 1973 quarterback will have to generate more than a total of seven points in his first two games. When the Tigers barely edged Rutgers last season, 7-6, and then played Princeton's first scoreless tie in 32 years against Columbia, season-long offensive problems loomed large. With a thinly-manned defensive platoon this fall, no quarterback will hold his job with a similar performance.

If Casciola can develop a quarterback who will fit his specifications, the Tigers are virtually certain to show vastly more offensive punch than they did a year ago because Walt Snickenberger will again be available. Absent last fall for academic reasons after a fine sophomore year (a 4.7-yard average that ranked him just fractionally below Hank Bjorklund and Doug Blake), Snickenberger has the break-away possibilities that were totally lacking last year.

Even with an improved offense, the new Tiger coach will need at least a year to make a contender of his team. Despite the loss of Dick Jauron, Yale is the consensus pick among Ivy League sports publicists to win the title. Dartmouth almost never fails to make a solid bid; Cornell has a veteran team that should also have a real chance; while in Philadelphia, Penn believes that it has the makings of its first championship team since 1959.

These four will take considerable dislodging for a revitalized Tiger to find a foothold in the Ivy League's first division. But when Bob Casciola says quietly, "It's going to be an interesting season," the impression is firm that he has a solid upswing for Princeton football fortunes as his goal in his first year around these parts.

Lucky C?

Princeton's renowned Class of 1903 has as its motto "Aller guten Dinge Sind Drei," which freely translated says that all good things come in threes.

Two of Princeton's most successful football coaches were Charlie Caldwell, whose won-lost average over 12 years was 70-30-3 .694 and Dick Colman, who was 75-33 for an identical percentage of .694.

Bob Casciola played under both and then served as Colman's assistant for five years from 1961-65.

Could be that third C will be just as successful as the first two.

MAN, 19, KILLED
In Twin Pole Crash, Arlice Hines, 19, 12 Leigh Avenue, an end on the 1971 Princeton High School football team, was killed early Tuesday morning when the small foreign car he was driving smashed into a pair of utility poles on Washington Road in West Windsor Township. Hines was pronounced dead of multiple injuries at 4:40 a.m. at Princeton Medical Center.

Also taken to the Center were three passengers in the car: Debbie Lee, 17, 20 Green Avenue, cuts and abrasions; Anthony Towns, 18, 29 Clay Street, dislocated shoulder; and Rebecca Goode, 23, 37 Leigh Avenue. All three sustained bone fractures.

Police had to use pry bars to free the four who were trapped for 40 minutes inside the wreckage. According to police, the car first struck two utility poles, then a hydrant and a mail box.

Because of their condition, Ptl. Gregory Eldridge said that he could not question the three survivors. The cause of the crash is still under investigation.

Rear End Collision. That troublesome intersection — Route 206 and Ewing was the scene of a rear end collision Labor Day evening.

Suffering whiplash injuries when their small car was struck from behind by a Cadillac were Douglas A. Cooper, 27, 206 Nassau Street, Elizabeth Cooper and Betty Cooper, 25.

Ptl. Jerry Offredo charged the other driver, Nello Melini,

It's Been Rather Warm and Dry...

"A high-pressure area got stuck," commented weatherman David Ludlum this week, keeping his own private low-pressure system in fine working order. "I can't predict when it will end, but it will end sometime."

He was talking, like everybody else, about the heat. Mr. Ludlum, speaking this Tuesday, counts it as only an eight-day heat wave because it didn't achieve 90 degrees until last Tuesday. On Monday, August 27, for example, it was only a cool 89 and that doesn't count. The record, in New York, is 11 days, and "we're approaching it," Mr. Ludlum says eagerly. He likes weather. Any weather.

Joining Mr. Ludlum in watching the thermometer is Walter Obal, of the garden market, whose customers are raking up unexpectedly early falling leaves. More about him later.

"We didn't have — haven't got — humidity, of course," Mr. Ludlum points out comfortingly. "The center of the high-pressure area has been inland, over Tennessee, Kentucky and the Carolinas. When the center of a high is inland, winds are west or northwest so you get less humidity. If the center is over the Atlantic, you get winds from the Gulf of Mexico and a great deal of humidity."

Mr. Ludlum's high is 96 degrees, registered in Princeton last Tuesday and Wednesday. Mostly it's been 90-91. Newark gets those 98-100 figures, he says, because the thermometer is at the airport where there's a lot of concrete. In New York, the thermometer "is on a rock in Central Park", and it's a hot rock.

"Thunderstorms haven't had much success in cooling things off," he continues, scanning the sky. "clouds build up and rumble around but you get barely a spatter."

It's cool now, west of the Mississippi, and the cool is edging eastward, nudged by Hurricane Delia. Mr. Ludlum doesn't expect high winds and storms from Delia, by the way.

In Mr. Obal's part of the world, trees that can't take heat are shedding their leaves fast, especially sycamores, tulip poplars, locusts and horse chestnuts.

For Mr. Ludlum and other weathermen, it hasn't been a humid heat — wave and indeed Mr. Obal acknowledges that it's about the driest heat-wave we've had, (August's 2.6 inches of rain is only two-thirds of normal.) but it's still too humid for trees.

"The combination of temperatures in the 90s and humidity, and fungus hits," he explains. "Trees defoliate, and some trees just can't take it."

Older established trees are in no danger, he says but small shrubs and newly-planted shrubs and even plants set in the ground as long ago as 1971 may suffer if they have shallow root systems.

The remedy? "Water".

71, of Vineland with careless driving. Police quoted Mr. Cooper as saying he was stopped in the southbound lane, waiting to turn left onto Ewing when he noticed in his mirror that the Melini car was not going to stop in time.

In desperation he stepped on his gas to try to get out of the way when he realized there was going to be a collision.

A witness told police that the Melini car was going about 45 to 50 miles an hour at the time of the mishap.

Convertible Totaled. A convertible was totaled last week when it went out of control and struck a tree on Washington Road near the Carnegie Lake Bridge.

The driver, Diane M. Grison, 25, 70 Leigh Avenue, was treated at Princeton Medical Center for contusions and abrasions. She told Ptl. Offredo that she was going approximately 89 miles an hour as she approached the Washington Road Bridge, shortly after 1 in the morning.

She was ticked for careless driving and driving without a license.

TWO ARE ASSAULTED

In Separate Attacks. A bartender and a pedestrian were assaulted last week in separate incidents in the Borough.

John Caruso, 45, Pine Tree Cottages, U.S. 1, was issued a complaint summons charging him with assault and battery after he allegedly struck Anthony Filippini, bartender at the Grotto Restaurant, with his fist.

The attack took place Saturday afternoon at the Wither- spoon Street restaurant in which Caruso also, police said, broke a number of liquor bottles and smashed glassware. Caruso, who police report was a former employee of the restaurant, was also charged with malicious damage to property.

James Hall, 22, of Cranbury told police that he was attacked by two men as he was walking on Nassau Street between Tulane Street and Wash-

Hall was treated at the Princeton Medical Center where 10 sutures were needed to close a laceration of his right forearm. Police were informed of the knifing at 1:31 by a call from the dispensary. The only description that the victim was able to give the police was that the two assailants were in their 20s.

LIGHTNING MISSES TWO

Women Suffer Shock. Mrs. Mary Jane Brooks, 50, of 770 Brunswick Pike West Windsor Township was one of two women killed by lightning Monday afternoon during a family picnic in Cadwallader Park, Trenton.

Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. Betty Little, 43, of Trenton, had taken shelter under a tree as the storm approached. A bolt which struck the tree left them suffering from severe shock but they escaped burns.

The women were taken to Mercer Hospital and placed in the intensive care unit, where their condition was listed as serious. A squirrel under the tree was killed by the lightning.

The TV weather forecasters sound almost gleeful as they tout the consecutive number of days with temperature readings above 90. By Thursday, they'll tell you happily, the all-time record of ten in a row will be tied. By Friday,

There's some hope for the rest of us. Rain Friday is expected to break the long string of highly unseasonal heat, with a truly pleasant weekend to follow.

Mugging, Too. Albert Leftwich, 20, Main Street, Lawrenceville, was charged with the mugging late Friday night of an 18-year-old Township resident at the Woodrow Wilson building.

The victim told police that he was approached by four men who threw him to the ground and took his wallet containing $48. He was being driven around town by police when the victim pointed out Leftwich on Nassau Street as one of the alleged muggers.

Leftwich was arrested by Sgt. Ralph Procaccino and Ptl. Kerry Klink and placed in jail. Bail was set at $200. He has a Sept. 19 date in Borough court.

Charged with Embezzlement. Also arrested last week on Nassau Street by Sgt. Ralph Procaccino and Ptl. Gerald Patterson was Donald B. Tadlock, 30, 27½ Green Street.

The officers had a warrant for his arrest charging him with embezzling $137 from the Food Mart, 20 Witherspoon Street. The complainant was Joseph Levy, police said.

Tadlock was scheduled to appear in court this Wednesday.

NEW SCHOOL OPENS

In West Windsor, West Windsor-Plainsboro's new high school has opened its doors for the first year of school. Firm statistics on the number of students won't be available immediately; as a spokesman said, "Kids are still pouring in."

The building's cafeteria is not yet completely ready, and no lunches will be served for the first few weeks of school. Students will, however, be able to buy milk and ice cream.

A meeting with the fact-finder from the Public Employment Relations Commission regarding teacher negotiations was held Thursday. The report of the fact-finder is not binding on either party, school officials explain. If agreement is not reached between the district and the teachers within five days, the fact-finder's report will be made public.

The only non-public school to be served with transportation during the coming year is St. Paul's in Princeton. The school board rejected all bids for a bus route to Notre Dame.

Eleven new teachers were appointed by the board at its meeting last Wednesday. They will join the staffs of the elementary and high school and augment the lists of substitute and supplementary teachers.

Like other districts, West Windsor-Plainsboro has had to increase the cost of lunches. Elementary school children will pay 45 cents for lunch, high school students will pay 50, a five-cent increase in each case. Milk will be up four cents; the district is no longer eligible for Federal milk funds.

Correction

It was erroneously stated in last week's Town Topics that the two developers who would like an office complex on Valley at Harrison could have appealed the Township Zoning Board's unfavorable decision on their use variance request directly to Township Committee. Under the law, in matters pertaining to a use variance, the only recourse is appeal to Superior Court. The developers, Dr. Arnold J. Hirsch and Dr. Robert S. Albahary, have made that appeal.

Adult School Change

Opening dates for the Princeton Adult School have been changed to Tuesday, October 2 and Thursday, October 4.

"We regret our oversight in previously scheduling the first classes to coincide with Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year," said a spokesman for the board of the Adult School. "We hope this change will avoid inconvenience to our faculty and students."

Registration and Open House, where prospective students may meet instructors, will be held as previously scheduled next Thursday, September 13, at Princeton High School. Hours for registration will be from 4-6 p.m. and 8-9:30 p.m. Open House will be during the evening hours only.

RENT LAW CHANGES

Up for Hearing. When Borough Council meets next Tuesday — for the first time formally since August 7 — it will hold public hearing on an amendment to the new rent levelling ordinance.

Also, Mayor Robert W. Cawley said this week that he hopes he can name members to the Rent Levelling Board, but that's by no means certain. He's had some volunteers but all have been either landlords or professionals in the rental business. He'd like tenants, and interested objective citizens on the board, too.

Another citizens' committee — the consolidation study group — may be ready for announcement, but here too, the mayor would like some more volunteers. He's had about half a dozen.

NEWCOMERS CLUB TO HOLD FIRST MEETING: Pot Logeman (left) and Ginny Aris are president and vice-president of the Newcomers Club which will hold its first meeting next Thursday, (Sept 13), at 12:30 in the YWCA on Avolon Place, providing an opportunity for new residents to meet and make friends. There is a variety of club activities: bridge, gourmet dinners, tours, luncheons . . . Those new to the area may join at this first meeting or receive more information from Susan Simpson, 924-8497.

Changes in the rent ordinance would allow a landlord entitled to a Consumer Price Index increase to forego the increase and pick it up in a later lease; permit charges for capital improvements to be levied only at the expiration of an old lease and the beginning of a new one; permit tax surcharges to be added only at the expiration of a lease, and allow routine maintenance costs to be included in the fixed costs of a landlord pleading hardship.

For Adult School. Do-it-yourself-with-a-little-help courses will be offered in full variety this semester at the Princeton Adult School, and participants may learn how to make jewelry from sheet metal, sew a man's pair of pants, do tie-dyeing and cook a Chinese dinner. In all, there will be 14 courses in this field. The fall term begins October 2. Classes will be held at Princeton High School on Moore St. every Tuesday and Thursday night for a 10-week period.

Registration is possible by mail, or may be done in person at the high school next Thursday, September 13, from 4-6 p.m. and between 8 and 9:30 p.m. During the latter period, instructors will be present to describe and discuss their courses.

Creative Photography is one of the new courses this year, to be given for two hours on Thursday nights, from 8 until 10 o'clock. The instructor, Mrs.

Vivian Grozier of Roosevelt, has planned the course as a series of round-table discussions of specific photographs, emphasizing print quality and artistic merit in salon, journalistic, advertising and commercial photography. There will also be individual criticism of students' work, and some access to darkroom facilities. The cost for this course will be $22.50.

Margaret K. Johnson, Princeton sculptor and print maker, will give a course called "Introduction to Printmaking," to meet for two hours on Tuesday nights. The class will explore approaches to the building of collagraph plates for intaglio and relief printmaking, using cardboard, foil, and other college materials. Plate will be inked and wiped and run through the etching press. Multi-color inking processes will also be explored. This course will cost $37.50, including materials.

Ceramics will be taught by Victoria Moy, in a two hour course on Thursdays. Students will experiment with different methods of hand-building and will use the potters' wheel. They will also mix their own glazes, and use several methods of firing. The cost of this course will be $30, including a charge of $8 for materials.

Making jewelry from wire, sheet metal, beads, cord, fabric, found objects and other inexpensive materials will be the subject of a course to be given by Betty Ruth Curtiss, of Princeton. This course will meet for two hours on Thursdays, and the cost will be $28, including $5 for basic tools and materials. The students will learn simple fastening and forming techniques and will design their own objects.

Pretzel Vendors Busted

As if the weather weren't hot enough, Township police made it even hotter for two vendors selling pretzels Saturday at the Eagle Giant football game in Palmer Stadium.

Joseph Dunn, Rockway Park, N.Y., and Jose Flores, Richmond Hill, N.Y., were arrested by Ptl David A. Funk for selling pretzels at the game without first obtaining a permit. Police said they had warned the two before making the arrests.

Fabric painting, tie-dyeing and batik and block printing, will be taught by Kiyomi Iwata of Hightstown on Tuesday nights. Painting in acrylic for beginning and intermediate students, with Helen Schwartz as instructor will also meet on Tuesday nights; and "First Steps in Art," with Elizabeth Monath, of Skillman, will be Thursday nights. The cost for these courses will be $30.50 for the fabric painting course, including $7 for materials, and $22.50 for the other two.

A popular and practical course in picture framing will be repeated this term on Tuesday nights. This course will be given, as before, by Elizabeth and David Hagan of the Queenstown Shop in Pennington. Students in this class will develop skills in mat making, joining, moulding, mounting, glass cutting, and assembly. The cost of the course is $34.50, including $12 for tools which will eventually, according to the instructors, pay for themselves many times over.

Another practical course will be offered in sewing men's and boys' clothing. The instructor will be Mrs. Carol A. Wood of Belle Mead who will give lecture-demonstrations covering the fit and construction of shirts, pants, vests, ties and a non tailored jacket, for polyester knits. Some sewing experience is helpful in taking this course, but not necessary, and the course is open to both men and women. The cost is $22.50, and the class will be held on Thursdays.

Creative Crochet will be presented by Ellen Goldberg of Princeton, whose shop in Hopewell, "Knots 'n' Stitches," was recently opened. After learning basic stitches and shapes, students will plan and execute their own projects. This class will meet on Tuesday nights, and will cost $23.00. Students will be asked to buy a size G crochet hook, practice yarn, and a textbook.

Four cooking courses, always popular, will be offered this term. "Cooking for a New World" will be taught by Michael Dorn, Editor-in-Chief of Random House Enterprises, and author of "Tycoons in the Kitchen" and co-author of "Unaccustomed Feasts." This course will be given Thursdays at the special hours of 5:30 a.m.-7:30 p.m.

According to the instructor, the course will be devoted to "the casual, elegant, highly-sophisticated cuisine that is attracting hip and health-conscious hosts and hostesses." Mr. Dorn will focus on economy, health foods and nutrition, without sacrificing, he hopes, the flavors and textures associated with haute cuisine. The fee for this course is $35 which includes the materials.

Chinese Cooking will be taught by Mrs. Yun-chi Chen on Tuesday nights at 8 p.m. The cost of this course will also be $35, including materials.

"An Indian Kitchen", taught by Mrs. Myna Ahmed, will feature authentic recipes from all parts of India. This class will meet Thursdays at 8 a.m. and the fee will be $35, including materials.

"Smorgasbord Cookery", hot and cold foods for buffet entertaining, will be repeated this term by Mrs. Hilja Treumut, and will be offered on Tuesdays at the special hour of 5:30-7:30 p.m. This course will feature the preparation of Scandinavian buffet foods. The fee will be $35, including materials.

Enrollment at Record High for New PDS Year

Princeton Day School begins its ninth year Monday with a record enrollment of 840 students and a faculty of 94. In addition, there are five new classrooms at the school, the result of extensive remodeling of Colross, the historic Georgian mansion which was formerly the Headmaster's residence.

Headmaster Douglas O. McClure has announced the appointment of 13 new teachers to the faculty. One more returns after a two-year absence — Mrs. William L. Howarth, who will teach English in Middle and Upper Schools.

Mrs. Chantal Callan will teach French in the Middle School. A native Parisian, she is a graduate of the Ecole Ste. Marie rue d'Assas and studied at Catholic University of Paris. She has taught in the Princeton Adult School.

Marcelino H. Questa joins the Spanish faculty. Mr. Questa, a lawyer with degrees from Havana University, has taught for seven years at Peddie School and in the Hightstown and Princeton adult schools.

TV Producer, Robert Denby, a graduate of McBurney

TO HEAD MIDDLE SCHOOL: David Frothingham will succeed Fowler Merle-Smith as headmaster of the Princeton Day Middle School. He was formerly assistant headmaster at the East Woods School, Oyster Bay, Long Island. Mr. Merle-Smith will return to teaching English at the school.

School and the University of Pennsylvania, will teach photography and assist in the Middle School physical education program. Through his own company, Mr. Denby also produces and films television documentaries.

Mrs. Whitney Eager joins the faculty at PDS as a reading and learning disabilities specialist in the Middle School. A graduate of the Spence School in New York, Mrs. Eager received her BA from Barnard and her MA from Columbia, and has taught at St. David's School, New York.

Miss Comfort Halsey, a graduate of Smith College, will assist in kindergarten. The daughter of an independent school headmaster, Miss Halsey did her practice teaching in Hanover, N. H.

Robert Hoffman, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, will teach mathematics in the Middle School and will be an assistant varsity football coach. Mr. Hoffman played football at Penn. and was a volunteer assistant teacher at West Philadelphia University Center High School.

Two New Science Teachers. John Jameson joins the faculty as a Middle School science teacher. Mr. Jameson formerly taught math and science at Maumee Valley Country Day School in Toledo, Ohio. He received his Sc.B. from Brown University and has done graduate work at the University of Toledo.

Also joining the Middle School science faculty is Mrs. Ruth R. Kolman, who formerly taught at Stuart Country Day School. Mrs. Kolman, who holds a BA from Swarthmore and an MA from the University of Pennsylvania, was a senior chemist at the Bureau of Research in Neurology and Psychiatry in Princeton.

Lawrence Kuser, formerly a guidance counselor at St. Anthony's High School in Trenton, joins the Middle School mathematics department. Formerly a banker, Mr. Kuser also taught at Notre Dame High School. He received his BA from Cornell, and has done graduate work at Rutgers, Rider and Fordham.

New assistant librarian is Mrs. Sherry Lausman. A graduate of Indiana State University, Mrs. Lausman worked in educational broadcasting and has been a substitute teacher in West Long Branch, Cranbury and Princeton.

Richard Mayer joins the industrial arts department at PDS. A native of Yardville, Mr. Mayer attended Maryville College in Tennessee, and was a cabinet maker and correction officer before teaching industrial education at Grice Junior High School in Trenton.

Quinn McCord, who holds his BA, MA and MAT degrees from Stanford University, will teach Latin and Greek. Mr. McCord comes from Maumee Valley Country Day School, and also taught at Taft School and Webb School.

Mrs. Kathleen Webb will be Upper School librarian. After graduating from Randolph Macon Women's College, she did graduate work at the University of Virginia and Trenton State and earned her MLS at Rutgers University Graduate School of Library Service. She has worked for Princeton Regional Schools as a media coordinator.

News Of The THEATRES

NEW GROUP FORMED
In Arts Disciplines Theatre, dance and music will weave together in the classes and workshops of a new organization, called Princeton Interrelated Arts.

The group is led by Sharon Bown, who started the successful Creative Theatre for Youth four years ago; Doris Allen, who has been a piano teacher in Princeton for eight years, and Abigail Ewert Kaplan, a professional dancer.

Mrs. Bown has re-titled her own organization now calls it Creative Theatre Unlimited, and has set up shop in Trinity Church at 33 Mercer Street. Mrs. Allen's Princeton Music Group with its four specialist teachers will hold classes in the Unitarian Church. Dance classes for the Dance Co-Op will be held at a location to be announced.

Creative Theatre Unlimited has expanded its activities to include adults. The former Creative Theatre for Youth served only students up through high school age.

In addition to after-school drama workshops for children, junior and high school students, C.T.U. will have evening workshops and seminars for adults who want to expand their awareness of drama and the arts.

Included in the new course offerings are Beginning Acting; Drama in Education; Women's Theatre Workshop and an Arts Investigation Forum.

On Saturdays, workshops will be held for children in grades four through 12 and will explore "Wider Theatre Experience." The idea is to integrate drama, music, movement, music and art.

Music, Piano and music students can begin as early as first and second grade—about six or seven years, according to Mrs. Allen. One member of The Princeton Music Group is a specialist in young children and the approach to music that involves drama. The pre-piano work will combine dance, drama and music for the younger children. In addition, the Group will have two piano teachers, plus the Group's director, Mrs. Allen.

The Dance Co-Op grew out of a gathering last April involving 20 people with keen interest in modern dance. Morning classes have been held during the summer, and were so successful that an expanded schedule has been planned for fall.

Modern dance and ballet at all levels, jazz, improvisation and choreography will be taught by professional dancers. A class in body conditioning "a special for people with bad backs", in Mrs. Kaplan's description, will be offered, as well as dance exercise classes for anybody, dancer or no, who wants to stay in shape.

The teaching of improvisation and choreography will be emphasized in one course. Classes will also be given in yoga.

For children, classes in creative movement will be held for three- through- nine-year olds and modern and classic ballet for older children.

The Dance Co-Op plans master classes—a single class given by a well-known dancer from New York.

"...MILKWOOD"
And Season Ends. The last four performances of the season for the Princeton Theatre Company will be given this week-end as Dylan Thomas' "Under Milkwood" is unfolded on the stage of the Fine Arts Theatre, Rider College.

This Thursday, Friday and Saturday, performances will start at 8:30 p.m. Sundays final presentation will be at 7:30. Tickets may be reserved by calling 896-0099.

"Under Milkwood" has sometimes been compared to Edgar Lee Masters' "Spoon River Anthology" and has been called a Welsh "Our Town." It describes a day—from just before dawn until just after bedtime—in the lives of the people who live in a small town on the Welsh coast.

In the original stage production in New York, Thomas himself read the First Voice, the central character who begins and ends the play and serves as a guide throughout. In Princeton Theatre's production, the role is taken by Anne Sheldon.

"TEA AND SYMPATHY"
Final, at Bucks. The final production of the summer season at the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope will be "Tea and Sympathy" by Robert Anderson. It will open next Tuesday at 8:30 and will play through September 23.

Meanwhile, "Lovers and Other Strangers," the quartet of short comedies by Renee Taylor and Joseph Bologna, is in its final week and will close with the 7:30 performance this Sunday.

Scorpio (Friday through Tuesday) Burt Lancaster and a star-laden cast are largely wasted here on an inadequate thriller sporting a glimpse at the so-called "truth" behind the CIA.

Lancaster is an ace CIA man who wants out of the spy game. However, he has stored so much top secret knowledge within him that his superiors feel the only way he should be let out is first. Before the film has run its 114 minutes, there is an over abundance of double dealings, double agents and "surprises" that one has come to expect from this genre. The most common denominator turns out to be death, with five of the seven headlines exiting before the film ends.

Yet with all the lack of credibility, Paul Scofield managed to pull off a good character role as a Russian counterpart to Lancaster. Alan Delon, known as Scorpio in the spy trade and a personal protégé of Lancaster, accepts a contract to kill his own mentor, in another fine character portrayal. Beautiful Gayle Hunnicutt provides the love interest. (PG)

HARP AND SOPRANO

Coming Season is Varied. Harp and flute soloists and a couple of sopranos will be among the musical offerings this coming season as the Princeton University Concerts begins another year.

The Concerts have been offered in Princeton for more than 50 years. There are two series of four concerts each, with subscriptions open to everyone. Season subscriptions may be purchased through the Concert Office, Music Department, Princeton University. Single tickets for all concerts will be available after Oct. 1. Information is available by telephone (924-0453) between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Full schedules and information are also in the advertisement on this page.

Series 11 will launch the season with an appearance on Monday, October 29 by the Brandenburg Ensemble under Alexander Schneider. Peter Serkin will be piano soloist. The artist for the next concert, Monday, November 19, will be Benita Valente, soprano. After a holiday break, Series 11 will resume Monday, February 25 with The Netherlands Wind Ensemble. The concluding concert, Monday, April 22, will be the English Chamber Orchestra conducted by Pinchas Zukerman, who will also be violin soloist.

Series I, which usually presents the larger music ensembles, will start Monday, November 5 with the English Sinfonia under Neville Dikkes. Nicanor Zabaleta, harpist, and John Solum, flautist, will be the soloists. The soprano Evelyn Lear will appear on Monday, January 14. An old favorite of University Concerts audiences, the Cleveland Orchestra, will play on Tuesday, February 12. Lorin Maazel is the conductor. The series will end Monday, April 1 with pianist Murray Perahia.

NEW MEMBERS SOUGHT

By Mercer Chorus. The Mercer County Chorus, which will begin its 1973-74 season in two weeks, is looking for new voices in all sections.

Auditions will be held at 7 p.m. on Monday, in the War Memorial Building, Trenton, the first rehearsal will follow at 7:30 p.m.

Regular rehearsals will be held every Monday evening at 8 p.m. in the War Memorial Building. We will hold tryouts at 7:30 p.m. on rehearsal nights for anyone wishing to join after our initial audition night.

On November 18, the chorus will again participate in the traditional Ecumenical Service — Continued on Next Page

A Touch of Class (now playing) is the kind of quiet little film, that must make its own way without a lot of advance buildup and ballyhoo, and consequently may be overlooked.

No best-selling book to pave the way, nor big name stars or X-rating, this lively romantic comedy has much to commend it. Glenda Jackson and George Segal are cast as a couple of wayward souls involved in trying to set up an affair.

Several accidental meetings finally lead to a carefully planned rendezvous in an apartment, where Segal suggests a more permanent affair. Miss Jackson agrees and that's where the real complications begin.

Both Segal and Miss Jackson give fine performances. Her quiet stares and barbs from repose find a fine complement in the full-grin slightly nutty good humor of Segal. He does overplay just a bit, but he makes his somewhat klunky insurance executive one of the world's more attractive fools. And a definite plus for the film is some beautiful witty dialogue.

If you caught "Day of the Jackal" last weekend, "A Touch of Class," should prove an interesting diversion on a hot summer's night.

PRINCE

Jesus Christ Superstar. A hip, contemporary rock opera that brings the reverent, Biblical Jesus Christ down from the stained glass windows.

Fundamentalists may be jarred at seeing crowds wearing long hair, blue jeans and T-shirts, but the film has been embraced by the young people as one that speaks in their idiom. The rock opera itself is a mixture of musical styles, pop culture and religion.

Tom Neeley, who had played Jesus in Broadway and Los Angeles stage productions, stars in the title role. Carl Anderson is Judas; Yvonne Elliman, Mary Magdalene; and Barry Dennen, Pontius Pilate.

MONTGOMERY

The Sound of Music. Julie Andrews and Christopher Plummer star in Sound of Music, which, since its release in March, 1965 has become one of the most profitable and most popular musicals of all time.

OTHER PAPERS will run your classifieds for half price, or for nothing if they do not sell. In TOWN TOPICS, you'll find more ads and better results. Ad advertising is 924-2200.

Sooner or later, you're going to hire a lawn service. So here are some things you should know.

By Sanders Wade A Scheiber

I'm going to do my best to make this an unbiased, informative piece of writing. My hope is to give you reasons why you should (and probably will) have a lawn service, ways to evaluate different services, some insight into costs, tips on jobs you can do yourself, and so on.

I hope to do all this without slanting the story in favor of Lawn King . . . but I'll probably fail.

You see I believe that our service is the best you can get. If I didn't, I'd have bought one of the other franchises.

Now you know where I stand. I hope you'll read on anyway.

Who cares, as long as it's green?

I hear this a lot. People say, "I don't give a damn whether it's grass or clover or plantain growing out there. This may be Suburbia, but I don't need a lawn for status."

Sure. But even the clover and plantain won't stay green forever without care.

And the fact is, you should care what's growing out there. If you have a good lawn, it will add from 5% to 10% to the selling price of your house. Don't take my word. Ask any reputable realtor in town.

The cost of not caring for your lawn is a lot higher than the cost of proper care.

Here's what a lawn service does.

A good service first takes a good look. Your lawn may have special problems and need special treatment. Or you may be lucky, and have a better lawn than most.

Whatever's needed, you should be told about it and told how it will be dealt with. And at that time, you should be told exactly what it will cost. If you get an "estimate", better call another lawn service.

A good lawn service will set up a program of scheduled treatments, at least four a year. (I do a lot more). I schedule four treatment visits and four checkbacks between treatments, to see how your lawn is doing. If it needs something more, I do it. No extra charge, either. A contract is a contract. I remember one lawn where I was back about eight times — with the equipment. Tough for me, but great for that poor sick lawn.

The four regular treatments should be scheduled in spring, early summer, late summer and fall. At each one, you should get fertilization, weed control, power rolling and power aeration. (Except for late summer, when we don't aerate. It would be wrong then.)

In addition to this, your treatments should also include seeding, extra fertilization (we use three different formulas of fertilizers in different amounts at different times), grub proofing and fungus control, pre-emergent and post-emergent crab grass control, chinch bug control and sod webworm control.

And that's just basic maintenance!

Could you do it yourself? Sure. Will you, though? No way!

There's no mystery to what we do. You can do it yourself, and you can buy or rent all the special equipment to do it. Spreaders, aerators, rollers — they're all available.

And so are the fertilizers, control agents, seed and all the rest of it.

You can do it. But unless you're some kind of nut, you won't. You'll just go on giving your lawn a token treatment in the spring. And for the rest of the season, all you'll give it is a disgusted look on your way to the golf club, the boat or the tennis court.

Don't expect miracles.

And don't trust a lawn service operator who promises them!

No service, and no amount of care, is going to restore a sick lawn in the first treatment.

If you start now, you may see some improvement this season, but only if you know what to look for.

The real big breakthrough will come next year.

And then you'll be amazed.

I'm amazed myself, when I see what has been accomplished by four or five treatments, Mother Nature and Father Time.

What can you do yourself?

You can keep your lawn well watered. This is especially important in the spring and fall, for at least three weeks after seeding. Unless it's kept wet, seed won't germinate and the new seedlings will die.

Here's how much to water.

Put anything that holds water on your lawn while you're sprinkling. When it's an inch deep, you've watered enough.

You can cut your lawn regularly. And you should, whenever your grass gets over three inches high. Never cut off more than one-third of the leaf and don't cut it too short. The drawing will explain why.

You can lime it every year. And you must lime it to keep the pH

Why not to cut too short.

If you cut to a 1" height, you've cut off the grass leaves. Chlorophyll in the grass leaves manufacture the plant's food from sunlight, carbon dioxide and water. So if you cut them off, the plant starves. And weeds (which are short) will grow instead.

between 6.2 and 6.5. This is easy to do, and helps a lot. Lime can be applied at any time, the sooner the better on lawns with a low pH. As a maintenance practice, it's best to apply lime in the Fall.

You can fertilize it four times a year. But be careful in the summer.

You can apply weed killer to stubborn crabgrass, dandelion plants, plantain and other nuisances. Far better than pulling them, which only gives you more weeds.

You can (and should) do a lot more, depending on the time you want to give the job.

Ask me, or ask your garden center, and do as much as you see fit.

Every bit helps.

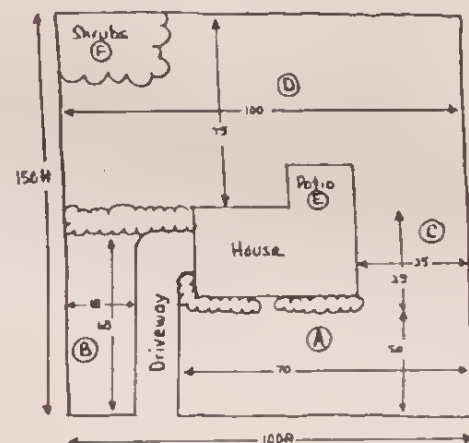

Now, down to price.

A lawn service is going to cost you, but not as much as you think.

Actually, it will be cheaper than the same care if you did it yourself. If it seems expensive, that's just because you're not doing all you should.

Our price is 3¢ a square foot, for a full-service, four-season program, with a minimum of 4,000 square feet.

Measure your lawn, and figure the cost for yourself.

Your lawn requires constant care throughout the growing season. If you wait, the lawn will only get worse, and it will take longer to control its problems.

So if you call me now, both you and I will be a lot better off.

And so will your ratty old lawn.

Ringoes, New Jersey

AT PRINCETON DECORATING: New to the Princeton Decorating Shop's staff is Darcy Toomey, who plans to take her AID exams this fall. She is shown here holding one of the shop's pretty patchwork gingham pillows.

IT'S NEW To Us

EXPERT HELP AVAILABLE

At Princeton Decorating. After two days of arduous exams including questions on architecture and design, Sandra Suyen Rosenblad has been admitted to the American Institute of Interior Designers.

AID status is not easily achieved as it requires a combination of education, experience and finally exams. and the Princeton Decorating Shop is very pleased that Sandy is a member of their staff. Her education and previous experience with Macy Fowler in New York and Bernard Cooke here in Princeton particularly qualify her to design and make presentations of commercial interiors.

Other people in the shop are Jane Sayen, AID; Darcy Toomey who plans to take her exams this fall; and Ellen Kerney who manages the store. They can help you choose an accessory in the shop, pick out upholstery for a chair, or decorate an entire house. They can even redesign an entire kitchen, including all the labor arrangements.

In addition to providing a decorating service, the shop has many interesting retail items for the house. There is a selection of unusual handmade pillows, and we saw gingham patchwork ones with a ruffled edge, $15-$20; woven ribbon pillows, $30; patchwork pillows in traditional American designs, $35; Scalamandre silk pillows, $33.75-$41.50; and custom needlepoint ones.

Then in artstone, which is a cement blend in a blue-grey color, Princeton Decorating Shop has copies of lead outdoor animals and planters. Decorative turtles and frogs start at $15, but the prices go to $65 for a large rabbit sitting on a lettuce leaf.

While furniture generally has to be ordered, the shop does have a few antique pieces, and we greatly admired a mahogany Queen Anne drop-leaf table, c. 1750. It was originally one end of a banquet table to which one leaf was added over 100 years ago.

The shop also has lamps, framed prints, china, Mazal toy needlepoint designs complete with all the yarn, and beautiful custom silk flower arrangements.

CHILDREN ARE SPECIAL

At the Clothes Line. The Clothes Line on Palmer Square carries clothes for children from the tiniest newborn through the first few school years. There are also a few selected toys, and at the moment, the store is excited about its new line of enchanting Beatrix Potter stuffed animals.

There is Benjamin Bunny dressed in a brown jacket with a red dotted hankerchief in his pocket and a green beret with a red pom-pom on his head. Then Jemima Puddle Duck is pure white, dressed in a blue bonnet and red cape, while Peter Rabbit wears a little blue jacket over his soft brown fur. Hunca Munca and Jeremy Fisher are also available and the prices range from $5.50 to $13.

Back-to-school dresses and jumpers to get the youngest school child started are here in sizes to 6x. By La Pat are some sweet band-smocked dresses, such as a navy with a small white flower print, white collar and red smocking; or a green dress with a tiny orange and yellow flower print, white collar and yellow smocking, $12.50 each.

Then, the Clothes Line has a line of hand-made dresses by Calliope and we particularly admired the jumpers. There are corduroy ones in blue, rust, barberry, navy or green with coordinated flower-print blouses, $12.50; and machine washable acrylic plaid ones that button down the back and are pleated from the bodice down, $8.95.

Ever hear of vitamin K? This little known substance is actually quite essential to life. Vitamin K is anti-hemorrhagic which means it aids in the clotting of blood. Vitamin K is present in egg yolk, fish oils, and a wide variety of vegetables. Vitamin K has been known to be a lifesaver for persons suffering from extensive bleeding who seem to have a deficiency of this vitamin. It is amazing how little known substances can be vitally important to us!

For all your vitamin needs consult with the experts at THE FORER PHARMACY, 160 Witherspoon. Complete prescription service awaits you when you rely on FORER for all your sick room, convalescent and laundry supplies. We're open Mon. thru Sat. from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sun. till 3 p.m. Phone 921-7287.

Music In Princeton

and Tuesday evenings from 7-9:30 p.m. The first rehearsal will be Sunday, September 16 at 7 p.m. All auditions will be held in Room 110.

PIANIST APPOINTED

To Music School Faculty: The New School for Music Study has announced the appointment of Sam Rotman to its piano faculty. Mr. Rotman, who comes to Princeton from the Juilliard School in New York, will begin his duties at the New School when the fall term opens September 24.

A native of Texas, Mr. Rotman has been concertizing since the age of 16, when he toured with the San Antonio Symphony Orchestra. He has appeared in solo recitals nationwide, and has made television broadcasts on CBS and NET networks. He has made a special study of the piano music of Beethoven, and devoted an entire concert season to all-Beethoven programs. In June he was one of 12 finalists in the international Beethoven competition in Vienna.

At the New School Mr. Rotman will devote a major share of his time to the junior high and high school students enrolled in the Young Artist department, where he will serve as special assistant to Dr. Frances Clark, the school's president. Mr. Rotman is married and lives in New Brunswick.

MEMBERS SOUGHT

Auditions on Monday. The Mercer County Chorus, composed of male and female voices, is seeking new members for its 1973-74 concert season. It is sponsored by the Mercer County Park Commission.

All interested singers are invited to attend the open auditions on Monday at 7 p.m. in the War Memorial Building, Trenton. Auditions will continue on subsequent Mondays at 7:30 p.m., also in the War Memorial Building.

For more information contact Noel Goeke, Box 259E, R.D. 1, Pennington; (466-1279, evenings.)

And For Boys . . . Calliope also makes reversible corduroy pants for boys, and these come in sizes up to a very ample regular 4. A brown corduroy that reverses to a blue and brown stripe with a matching short-sleeved shirt is $12.98. A red corduroy pair lined in a red and blue plaid, without the matching shirt is $8.50.

New this year are knit suits for boys with cuffed pants, a fly front, and elastic waist, to size 7. One suit has green pants and a turtle-neck sweater with a red and white star pattern, while another has maroon pants and a striped top, $16.95. By the way, these are also machine washable.

After about a four-year absence, boys pants once again have elastic backs — no more off the hips. By Donmoor, we saw green or blue sheared corduroy pants with a fly and cuffed legs, $7, and an acrylic red, green and gold plaid, $9.95.

There are also girls' slacks and lots of polo shirts by Donmoor and Carltona in solids, stripes and patterns. These shirts are in sizes up to 10, and cost $2.75 to $5.50. The Clothes Line, 53 West Palmer Square is open Monday to Friday from 9 to 5 and on Saturday from 9 to 4.

NEW IDEAS IN FABRICS

At Fabric Shop. "We'd rather close our doors than carry a lesser quality fabric," one of the Fabric Shop's owners, Lucille Caravale, said, explaining that quality fabric produces a better end result. Sewing takes a lot of effort, and Mrs. Caravale feels you should be happy with the final garment.

The store has been buying from the same fabric houses for years, and Mrs. Caravale is able to suggest any of the fabrics and stand behind them because she knows how they will make up.

We learned that quilting has become extremely popular for all age groups and the Fabric Shop has a number of calico prints. They are also perfect for little girls' dresses as the Peter Pan fabric is permanent press. We saw a yellow with a tiny red flower print, and a red printed with a child's drawings of cats, dogs, hearts, etc. $1.50 to $2 a yard for a 45-inch width.

According to Mrs. Caravale, polyester is a sure thing, especially for everyday wear as it is completely washable and is almost indestructible.

For a fashionable look, the store has some co-ordinated polyester knits. A ribbed fabric with a white, rust and grey pattern can be teamed with a solid ribbed knit in any of the three colors, 64 inches wide and $10 a yard.

Tips from Experts. The store is co-owned by Mrs. Caravale's sister, Eleanor Nelson, and they are assisted by Sharon Woodruff. All three sew and can tell you about the fabrics and help work out the details of a pattern. For instance, for these unusually wide fabrics, they suggest laying the pattern out on the counter so that you won't need to buy any unnecessary yardage.

A new line this year is a scotchguarded polyester that is great for upholstery, bedspreads and children's clothes. It is washable and yet the blanket plaids, solids and herringbones have a wool-like look, $5 a yard for a 54-inch width.

However, if you are a lover of the real thing, the Fabric Shop has some beautiful wools. There is a soft wool crepe by J. P. Stevens that has a hard surface so it won't attract lint and comes in many colors such as a green, royal blue, lavender, and brown, 54 inches wide and $10 a yard; and a gorgeous mohair and wool herringbone by Angla wools, $15 a yard for a 56-inch width.

Other fabrics include banlon knits for soft, draped dresses; Qiana fabrics that are the closest thing to silk surah you'll ever feel; and a nylon velour in bright colors for comfortable loungewear.

Located at 14 Chambers Street, the Fabric Shop is open Monday to Friday from 9:30 to 5:30, and on Saturdays from 9:30 to 5. Don't forget that the large parking lot at the corner of Avalon and Chambers Streets is open on Saturdays, which makes shopping much easier.

Township to Collect Branches, Yard Rakings

Next Monday and Tuesday, the Township Engineering Department will make a township-wide collection of tree limbs, twigs, brush and lawn clippings. The collections will be made on an every-other-week basis on the first two work days of each week until further notice. Householders should put the material at curbside before 8 a.m.

Precise requirements for size and bulk have been established by the engineering department:

- Branches must be trimmed to a maximum spread of three feet.
- Four inches in diameter is the maximum size for tree limbs and branches. Nothing larger will be collected.

• Branches up to two inches in diameter may be any length, but no wider than the maximum spread of three feet.

• Branches and limbs between two and four inches in diameter must be no longer than five feet.

• Branches more than one inch in diameter must be bound with rope or twine—no wires.

• No stumps will be collected.

• Twigs, brush and grass clippings are to be in heavy paper bags or non-returnable plastic bags no heavier than one man can handle.

• The service is for homeowners only. Developers, commercial enterprises or business firms are not covered.

10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Monday, 5 to 10.

11 a.m.-5 p.m.: Griggstown Country Festival, art exhibits, craft demonstrations, children's games, blue grass music, folk dancing, and booths for bargain hunters. Griggstown Reformed Church.

The Isles of the Blest, the Fortunate Isles, Elysium, and the Garden of Hesperides—where are all these places? You can find them all in the Canary Islands. Since the days of the earliest mariners, the Canary Islands have been a mythological paradise of snow-topped mountains towering over lush vegetation. The climate? Perpetual Springtime. You'll find the Canary Islands worth every minute of your visit there. There is so much beauty on this island. No matter where you travel, come to WELCOME ABOARD TRAVEL CENTER, 29 Witherspoon St. . . . Visit Majorca—one of the vacation paradises of Europe. The island tempo is relaxed, casual, leisurely, and its scenery is justly famous . . . Call 921 3350 . . . Open daily 9-5:30, Saturday 10-2. HELPFUL HINT: You need only a valid passport for a stay of up to six months in the Canary Islands.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sikorski, 262 Perrineville Rd., Jamesburg, August 30; Mr. and Mrs. Scott Graham, R.D. 1, Ringoes, and Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, 45 Old Millstone Drive, Hightstown, both August 31; and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Schultz, 44 South Stanworth Drive, September 1.

WOMAN IS RAPED

In Hibben Laundry Room. A woman in her 20s was raped last Wednesday evening in the laundry room at the Hibben Apartments off Faculty Drive. She was a resident there.

Township police said that a man came up behind the woman, who was alone washing clothes. The victim was taken to the Princeton Medical Center. The incident is still under investigation.

WALLET THEFT FOILED

At Community Pool. An attempted theft of a wallet in the locker room at the Community Park Pool complex last week was thwarted when the owner appeared on the scene.

Police report that the owner apprehended one boy with the wallet in his hand. The second was picked up the next day.

The 15-year-old suspects, one from the Borough and one from Levittown, Pa., were released to the custody of their parents to await action by a Mercer County Juvenile Court.

MAN ELUDES CAPTURE

Bot Sister Is Arrested. Jerome McGowan, 26, 246 John Street, who has been in frequent trouble with the police, escaped another arrest Thursday evening when he fled on foot from two Borough of officers.

Ptl. William Hunter and Ptl. Ronald Holliday, with a warrant for his arrest, observed McGowan sitting in a car parked on Palmer Square. They identified themselves and attempted to place him under arrest but McGowan fled and Ptl. Hunter had to give up the chase on the University campus. Ptl. Hunter signed a complaint charging McGowan with escape.

The driver of the car, Joyce McGowan, 25, of Somerset, the suspect's sister, was charged with possession of under 25 grams of marijuana. She was later released in her own recognizance.

He Should Have Stopped.

When Ptl. Robert Mucciarelli and Ptl. Ronald Holliday halted a car for running a stop sign Sunday evening, they discovered the car was loaded with stereo equipment.

After a check with the National Crime Information computer center had revealed that part of the equipment was "hot" — the result of a "hit" in Englewood, Calif. — the officers arrested the driver, Anthony W. Stacey, 20, Lewisville Road, Lawrenceville and charged him with possession of stolen property. He was later released, pending his appearance in court.

HOUSE TORN APART

"To Cleanse Souls" of Owners. When the owners of a Greenholm home returned home Saturday evening at 7:07, they discovered a man inside who had literally torn their house apart.

Police arrested Orator Frank Woodward, 29, no known address, who told them he had been sent by the Franciscan Brothers "to remove all material goods as the Lord was going to destroy the house by fire and cleanse the souls of the people who lived there." He was later taken to the State Hospital in Trenton after being examined by a psychiatrist.

Police said that a dining room table had been carried to the basement and used as an altar, and religious symbols and sayings had been pointed on other furniture.

Rugs, lamps, tables and bedding had been carried from the home. The telephones has been ripped out, and were found under some shrubbery in the rear yard. Police said that the entire house and furniture had been damaged.

SIX ARE FINED

In Township Court. Six Princeton area residents were fined last week by Judge Philip Carchman in Township Court, three for motor vehicle violations and three on criminal charges.

Glenn Ferguson, 19, Route 27, paid three separate fines: $60 for disregarding an officer's signal, $35 for following too closely and $15 for delinquent inspection. He pleaded not guilty to the first two Jesus Castaneda, 37, 13 Montgomery Avenue, Rocky Hill, was fined $15 for careless driving, while Michele Toto, 41, 162 Linden Lane paid $10 for an inoperative left signal light.

Fined $110 each for shoplifting were Francine L. Coleman and Virginia D. Tingle, both of 71 Columbia Avenue, Hopewell. A disorderly person charge cost George C. Crane, Cherry Brook Drive, $60.

Four in Borough Court. Four from this area were fined last week by Judge Carchman in Borough criminal court.

Floyd N. Rhodes Jr., 151 Walnut Lane, was fined $15 for writing a check with insufficient funds at the University Store. For stealing money from a man on Bayard Lane, Stewart Cruickshank, 211 Dods Lane, was fined $35.

Ruth Johnson, 106 Spruce Street, and James W. Hall, One Mile Road, Cranbury, who had filed assault charges against each other, were fined $35 each. Both pleaded not guilty.

In a separate charge, Hall was also fined $25 for trespassing.

WHAT ABOUT BROOK?

Meeting is Scheduled. Developers of Queenston Common and neighbors of the unfinished project will meet Monday, as suggested last week by state officials, to talk about the kind of retaining wall they want for Harry's Brook.

Their options, all of which have state approval, are a steep retaining wall, a sloping wall or an enclosed brook. Nobody seems to want the latter.

Last week, at a meeting with Borough officials and interested civilians, state water resources officials announced that they had asked the attorney general's office to seek penally action against Queenston's developers for possible stream encroachment violations. Mayor Robert W. Cawley said this week that the Borough doesn't know when a report will come from the state on that action.

ART In Princeton

OPEN AIR SHOW PLANNED

At Shopping Center. The fourth annual Open Air Art Show at Princeton Shopping Center will be held Saturday, September 15, rain date Sunday, September 22. Show hours are 10 to 5.

The show, which attracted more than 200 exhibitors and 15,000 spectators last year is open to amateurs as well as professional artists. Display categories are oils, acrylics, water color graphics, mixed media and sculpture. Crafts men and photographers also are invited to show their work but these exhibits will not be judged.

Judging of the show will establish three prize-winners in each of five categories for professional exhibitors. One best in show award also will be made.

Prizes for professional artists will be in cash. Cash or merchandise certificates will be given to winners in the amateur categories.

Artists wishing to exhibit at the show may obtain entry blanks from Miss Diana Rosencroft, resident manager of Princeton Shopping Center, 921-6234. The show is sponsored by the Shopping Center's management and the Merchants Association. There is no admission fee for spectators.

The entry fee for exhibitors varies with the space required for the art work. Entry fee is $7 for an eight foot space, $5 for four feet or under. Entry fee for high school student is $2. No commission will be charged any artist whose work is on sale.

PRINT DISPLAY TO OPEN
At Medical Center. A graphic artist and teacher will be honored Sunday when her collection of 6 prints goes on display at the Princeton Medical Center.

The exhibit will open at 2 Sunday in the main lobby with a public reception for the artist, Joan B. Needham of Clarksville Road, Princeton. Her collection of collagraphs, etchings and silk screen prints will hang in the hospital's coffee shop through October 31.

The exhibit, arranged in cooperation with the Princeton Art Association is the second in a series planned by the Medical Center at Princeton to honor area artists who have gained regional and national recognition. Mr. Needham, a graduate of Moore College of Art, Philadelphia, has exhibited in group shows sponsored by the Present Day Club and the YMCA.

Her prints also have appeared in juried shows at McCarter Theatre, the New Jersey State Museum, National Print Exhibition, Hunterdon Art Center, Montclair Art Museum, Bergen Community Museum, Rutgers University, Squibb Laboratories and IBM. Her works also have been featured in a one woman show at the Art Federation in Kingston and in the permanent collection of the New Jersey Heritage Commission.

Following advanced studies at the Montclair Art Museum and the Princeton Graphic Workshop, the artist accepted teaching positions with the Princeton Art Association, the West Windsor Recreation Program and Mercer County Community College.

All works exhibited at the hospital unit, including an embossed collagraph titled "Eye," will be for sale by the artist.

The Needham exhibit follows a two month showing of water colors by Helen Schwartz.

EXHIBIT TO OPEN

In Kingston Friday. The Art Confederation Gallery's September show will be a new series of woodblock prints by Trenton artist Wendell Brooks. Born in Alabama, Mr. Brooks is assistant professor of art at Trenton State College. He founded and is director of the Young Printmakers Workshop. His works have been purchased by, among others, the Library of Congress and the State Department. Most recently the Smithsonian added his work "Reflections" to its National Gallery of Fine Arts collection.

The show will run from September 7 until October 3 with an opening reception on Friday evening from 7 to 9. The A. C. Gallery is at 77 Main Street in Kingston in the courtyard of Owen's Barn and is open Tuesday through Saturday from 1 to 5.

Razing of Buildings Regretted. To the Editor of Town Topics: The recent demolition by Princeton Theological Seminary of Thomson Hall and the red Richard Morris Hunt building nearby is a loss for Princeton, a slap at its charm, a kick at its claim to historic architecture.

The Historical Society's Preservation Committee made an effort to save Thomson Hall, but I find the apparent uncooperative and secretive attitude of the Seminary officials offensive (see Constance Greiff's letter in last issue).

Clearly the demolitions were not acts in ignorance of historic architecture, nor were they a first affront — for there was the demolition of Lennox Library by the Seminary in 1955, followed by the resurrection of its brownstone in a sentimental gateway, as though that somehow restored the demolished architecture.

We may not be able to educate our tax-free educational institutions much about history of architecture, but I think we can teach them a lesson about what we will not endure. The way to gain their undivided attention toward matters of culture and taste, and better behavior towards our historic town is to rap them across the pocket-book.

Future private monetary gifts might be directed only to organizations that treat the town well. Demolition permits might be scaled to the historic and architectural value of a building in such a way that the cost of the permit would be prohibitive for valuable buildings. Then again, would our tax-free educational institutions feel more integral with the town if they paid full property taxes?

It is most unfortunate that Mr. Richard J. Sullivan, Commissioner of Environmental Protection, has apparently not yet signed the nomination of Princeton as a Historic District, though this protection has been given to our illustrious neighbor, Lawrenceville. Elizabeth G. C. Menzies, 926 Kingston Road

Protest School Decision

To the Editor of Town Topics: The following is a copy of a letter sent to Dr. Phillip McPherson, Superintendent of Schools; Mrs. Hannah Fox, President of the School Board, and Mr. George Petrillo, Principal of the High School:

We, members of the Learning Community, are disillusioned by the recent decision to remove the Learning Community from its agreed upon High School location to Valley Road School. We don't fully understand the reasoning behind the explanations that we are "used to functioning outside the High School building" and the necessity "to find out if some

Pools to Stay Open

Because of the hot weather, the Community Park pools, scheduled to close this week, are being kept open by a skeleton crew. "Every effort has been made to keep them open, and it looks good," commented Donald Barr, recreation director. He said the pools would be open from 12 noon 'til 7 through Friday.

This weekend — the final weekend of the season — the pools will be open from 11 'til 7.

PHS programs can run here, (Valley Road School)," as they seem an insufficient basis for such a major decision. We are bewildered also, because, to our knowledge, the decision was made, only a week ago, without consultation between the administration and members of the Learning Community, staff or students.

Last year's isolation made us aware of the difficulties involved in separation from the High School. In view of this, one of our goals for the coming year, and possibly the most pertinent, is to improve our relations with the students, staff, and administration of the High School. Achievement of this goal will be hampered by the lack of communication, intensified by the distance between the two schools. We hope this was not intended.

It is unfortunate that both Learning Community and High School students will not have the opportunity to benefit from exchanging ideas, resources, and friendship.

TRENTON PAIR ARRESTED

For Armed Kidnapping. Two Trenton men, wanted by Ewing Township authorities for the alleged armed kidnapping of a 23-year-old man in that community, were arrested on Mercer Road Thursday afternoon by Township police. Levi McCormick, 23, has been charged by Township police with assault and intent to kill and possession of a firearm. Charles L. Davis, 21, has been charged with aiding and abetting. Bail on each was set at $1,000.

Friday, in Mercer County Court, Judge J. Jerome Moore heard the Ewing Township police charge of kidnapping against the same two. Levi was held over in $9,000 bail. Davis in $4,000. Total bail on Levi is $10,000, on Davis $5,000.

According to Township police, the pair took Herbert Caldwell, 22, of Trenton, at gun point from a youth foundation in Ewing where he is employed. Ewing police sent out an alert which was broadcast by Princeton radio station WHWH.

A motorist traveling on Mercer Road noticed a car near Battlefield Park and three men arguing. He heard the radio broadcast, recognized the car and notified Township police. After verifying the information with Ewing police, Township police sent Sgt. Robert Hencock and Ptl. James Vandermark to apprehend the three. They were taken to Township headquarters.

Det. Samuel Bianco said that the kidnapping was the result of a "private dispute" among the three men.

COURT NOMINEES NAMED

Two From Princeton. Governor William T. Cahill has nominated Assistant Attorney General Morton I. Greenberg of 33 Beech Hill Circle for judge of the Superior Court, and attorney Harvey S. Moore, who practices law at 201 Nassau Street, for the Mercer County Court.

These nominations, along with other judicial nominations made by the Governor, will be submitted to a special session of the State Senate September 10. Confirmation is expected.

Mr. Moore, a resident of Hamilton Township, is associated with Mason, Griffin, Moore and Pierson of Princeton. He now serves as municipal attorney for Montgomery Township, East Windsor and Hightstown.

FIRST MEETING PLANNED

By W. Windsor - Plainsboro PTA. The first general meeting of the West Windsor-Plainsboro Regional PTA will be held on Wednesday evening, September 12, at 8 in the Maurice Hawk School.

In keeping with this year's theme, "Communication", the PTA invites everyone to meet the Superintendent of Schools, Dr. John Hadden, and members of his staff; the Principals of the Dutch Neck, Maurice Hawk, Plainsboro schools and the West Windsor-Plainsboro Regional High School and members of their staffs; as well as members of the Board of Education.

PUPPETRY ADDED

To Arts Course at Y. Creative puppetry will be added to the painting, drawing, music, poetry, drama, and dance activities in Eva Kaplan's "Discoveries In Creativity" at the YMCA. In this mini-humanities program for boys and girls ages 3-6, all the arts are interrelated.

Eva Kaplan, who will also be leading "Art Exploration," a new "Y" program for boys 13-19, is having a children's art exhibit at The New Jersey Museum from September 22 'til November 11.

Registration for "Discoveries In Creativity" and for "Art Explorations" begins on Monday at the Y on Avalon Place.

The co-sponsors of the Rising Generation series are pleased to reprint the new "Guide to 18-year-old Adulthood in New Jersey." It appears in four parts detailing rights and responsibilities under the Age of Majority Law.

The brochure was written and prepared by the Department of Community Affairs, Office of Youth Services.

From the preamble by Governor William T. Cahill:

"This new law will free you from the double standards that made you old enough for some adult rights but not old enough for others. It will give you what you long sought and rightly deserved: The full rights and responsibilities of citizenship and the opportunity to participate fully in our society . . .

"In recent years, several states have extended the rights and responsibilities of adulthood to 18-year-olds. Some of these states have also lowered their drinking age to 18; others have not. I am glad to say that New Jersey has offered you the full range of adult rights including the right to buy and sell alcoholic beverages. Unfortunately, in some states which have lowered their drinking age, automobile accident rates for young people have increased. Hopefully, the same will not happen in New Jersey. The Age of Majority Law is ample proof that we believe the youth of New Jersey have acted and will act responsibly, and in that we have placed our trust. Please remember that the lives of others may depend on your judgment, judgments which may affect you for the remainder of your life. . . ."

YOU MAY NOW FILE SUIT AND BE SUED

If you are 18 or older and of sound mind, you may prosecute or defend any action in the courts, in person or through an attorney. You may, in other words, initiate legal action against another person or group of people, and similarly, you may be called upon to defend your actions against legal suits started by others.

Chapter 81, P.L. 1972

YOU CAN BE ASKED TO SUPPORT A RELATIVE

If you are 18 or older, you may be charged by a court or county welfare board with the responsibility of supporting or contributing to the support of any relative who is poor, old, blind, etc. and/or unable to work. (N.J. Laws, Sec. 44-4101).

YOU HAVE THE RIGHT AND RESPONSIBILITY TO VOTE

The 26th Amendment to the United States Constitution has extended the right to vote to people between the ages of 18 and 21. You have the opportunity, therefore, to express your opinion as a citizen of the United States and to participate in making the decisions which determine the policies of your community, state, and country. At the same time, you should recognize a responsibility to register and vote in all local, county, state, and national elections.

(U.S. Constitution Amendment XXVI)

CAN I STILL RECEIVE BENEFITS FROM MY LOCAL WELFARE BOARD AND THE BUREAU OF CHILDREN'S SERVICES AFTER AGE 18?

If you receive benefits from your local welfare board under the Aid to Dependent Children program or from the New Jersey Bureau of Children's Services as a foster child, chances are you will be affected by the Age of Majority Law which became effective on January 1, 1973.

A possibility exists that your payments under these programs will no longer be valid since you will have reached the legal age of adulthood and will no longer be considered the responsibility of the State.

There is, however, a bill pending in the Legislature which would provide for the continuance of these payments until age 21. It would be to your advantage, therefore, to maintain close contact with your caseworker and other appropriate people to stay aware of current developments on the matter.

YOU MAY WRITE YOUR OWN WILL

If you are 18 or older and of sound mind and body, you may determine by a will how your property or estate will be disposed of after your death. To be legal, a will must be witnessed by at least two other persons who are 18 or older. To avoid the possibility of the will being contested, these witnesses should not be recipients under the terms of the will.

(N.J. Laws 1972, Chapter 81)

YOU CAN INHERIT

If you are 18 or older, you can receive or inherit any estate or trust of real or personal value. You also have the right to exercise your own authority in maintaining your inheritance.

(N.J. Laws 1972, Chapter 81)

If you are 18 or older, you may legally inherit and assume control of all bank accounts for which you have been named beneficiary.

(N.J. Laws, Section 17:9A-217)

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

- Q. 18-year-olds will be eligible for jury duty. Can they be taken out of school to serve on a jury?
- A. Often people are excused from jury duty when their duty would cause them extreme hardship. It seems likely that students will fall under the same category during the school year.
- Q. If I am over 18, must my parents support me?
- A. This will, of course, depend upon your ability to support yourself, but along with your new rights come responsibilities and if you are capable of supporting yourself, chances are your parents will not be required to do so. Your parents may support you if they want to for as long as they choose.
- Q. After January 1, 1973 will I still be eligible to apply for and receive my driver's license at age 17?
- A. Yes. Under New Jersey law, the legal age for driving is 17 and this requirement remains unchanged by the Age of Majority Law.
- Q. Can I still attend public school after I am 18?
- A. Yes. New Jersey law provides that any person under 20 years of age is eligible for enrollment in public schools.
- Q. If I am 18 or older, may I leave home without parental permission and without facing legal action against me?
- A. Yes. You will be considered an adult.
- Q. If I am between the ages of 18 and 21 and charged with a civil or criminal offense, will I be tried as a juvenile or adult?
- A. 18 has always been the age for separating juvenile and adult offenders. Although you will be tried as an adult, you may still be sentenced to a youth correction center until you are over 30 years of age. This is left to the discretion of the court.
- Q. If I am between the ages of 18 and 21, can I be arrested for a delinquent act such as incorrigibility or truancy?
- A. There are certain acts for which adults are not arrested. If you are 18 or over, you cannot be arrested for the following delinquent acts: habitual vagrancy, incorrigibility, immorality, knowingly associating with thieves or vicious or immoral persons, growing up in idleness or delinquency, knowingly visiting legal gambling places, or patronizing other places or establishments admission to which constitutes a violation of law, idly roaming the streets at night, or habitual truancy from school.
- Q. If I am between the ages of 18 and 21 and incarcerated in a juvenile facility, will I be transferred?
- A. No. You will remain in the facility to which you were sentenced unless the court requires that you be moved.

BUS FARES TO BE CUT

For the Elderly. Beginning Monday, senior citizens aged 62 and over will be able to ride New Jersey intrastate buses at half fare during off-peak hours by using special New Jersey Identification Cards. Application forms for the cards are now available from any office of the First National Bank of Princeton.

The reduced-fare transportation program has been made possible by legislation adopted last spring, and will apply to service during the hours of 9:30 to 4 and from 7 p.m. to 6 p.m. during weekdays, and all day Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

To qualify for the reduced fares, a senior citizen must present the identification card to the bus driver as proof of being at least 62 years of age. The card is easy to obtain, and simply involves filling out a short application form obtainable at any of the six offices of the First National Bank of Princeton.

Proof of age can be demonstrated with a driver's license, birth certificate, high school diploma, passport, or other similar document.

The residency requirement can be fulfilled by showing a bank statement with your address, a charge card, utility bill, or similar item. A social security card must also be presented.

Once the application form is completed, a senior citizen will receive the identification card in the mail directly from the New Jersey Department of Transportation.

NEW RATABLES SOUGHT

By West Windsor. A full scale program to attract new industry to West Windsor Township and to upgrade the municipality's economic base has begun.

Stefan Guzy, Township Committee member assigned to the work of the community's Industrial Commission, said that months of analysis of successful programs and of individuals responsible for such programs has culminated in the hiring of a specialist to launch and build the municipality's economic development program.

Mr. Guzy reported that a contract has been signed with William A. Snyder, of the promotional and public relations firm of Mark Forrest, Inc., Vineland for the initiation of the new program.

Retention of Snyder followed detailed study of alternative programs for economic development by Guzy and the Town-

Dining Out? Try the Turnpike

Thinking about a pleasant dinner for two at a neighborhood bistro? Why not drive a little further and try one of the roadside restaurants on the New Jersey Turnpike. Absurd, you say. The Turnpike Authority doesn't think so, and to lure people to its eating places, who may not have any other reason to be on the superhighway, it has launched a campaign to upgrade the food service.

Booted out after serving Turnpike traffic for 22 consecutive years, since the road first opened, is the Howard Johnson Company, the ubiquitous Ho-Jo's. Turnpike officials say the change in operators is not to be interpreted as an indication of dissatisfaction with the firm. In its place are The Marriott Corporation, who will operate 10 restaurants beginning October 1 and the Gladieux Corporation, which will be responsible for four eating places at the southernmost end of the Turnpike.

The switch followed a recommendation by an evaluation committee headed by Authority Treasurer William P. Taggart, who reported his group made numerous unannounced inspection visits to toll road restaurants as far west as Ohio.

The committee later heard and investigated formal presentations by Marriott, Gladieux, Howard Johnson and Restaurant Associates, who were invited to outline their plans for a new concept of food service on the Turnpike.

"Customer relations, menu variety, interior decoration, managerial techniques and structural changes all received greater consideration than financial return to the Authority," said Commissioner Taggart.

"We were also looking for an innovative approach to toll road feeding," he stated. "Something other than french fries, ham and eggs, or meatloaf. We're going to make highway dining a new and pleasant experience with international dishes, chafing dish service, a delicatessen shop, Viennese pastry and other features which will have people entering the Turnpike just to try the food."

And to help digest the sumptuous repast, how about a pleasant drive after dinner past the Exxon refineries?

ship Industrial Commission chaired by Richard J. Gallaudet. Mr. Snyder will work on a part-time basis for the remainder of the year with a budget of $7,000 to firm up a high-impact program incorporating site publication, advertisements, data preparation, printed material and personal contact.

"This action follows an exhaustive study to discover the kind of economic program which could best attract and guide the growth of clean, new industry in the township on a least-cost, most-impact basis," Guzy said.

"The broadening of the tax base, whereby desirable new industry takes on a major share of the burden of taxation with our citizens, is the aim. Cost analysis shows that new industry more than pays for a program of this sort through both taxation and the provision of more and better jobs in the community."

"The program to be adopted has proven itself as a drawing card for inquiries and a successful means of paving the way for sound economic development over the long term."

DAY SCHOOL STARTED

For Emotionally Disturbed. A day school for emotionally disturbed children will open this fall at Princeton House, community mental health unit of The Medical Center. According to Dr. William Phillips, Princeton House medical director, it will offer classroom instruction and psychological services to a maximum of eight students between the ages of 10 and 17. Approved by the State Department of Education, classes will be open to students referred by public and private school educators. Tuition and transportation costs will be paid by the sending school district.

Under the supervision of Dr. Phillips, the school will be conducted by state-certified teachers of the handicapped and members of the Princeton House staff. Dr. Michael Tricarico, a specialist in adolescent psychiatry, will serve as consultant.

In addition to classroom instruction, students enrolled in the program will receive occupational and recreational therapy including competitive sports and individual psychological counseling.

Introduction of the program at Princeton House, according to Dr. Phillips, marks "the first time special education classes have been offered to Mercer area residents in a comprehensive mental health setting. 'In most instances,' he noted, 'students accepted into the program will come to us with average or above-average IQs and a wide range of emotional disorders.

"By limiting class sizes to four and emphasizing individual instruction and counseling," he added, "we hope to remove or reduce the psychological barriers which might otherwise prevent the children from leading productive lives." Additional information may be obtained from Dr. Phillips at 924-6767.

PICNIC PLANNED

By University Women. The Princeton Branch of the American Association of University Women will hold a September Membership Picnic at All Saints Chapel, Van Dyke Rd., on Wednesday evening, September 12, at 7:30. An invitation is extended to graduates of AAUW-approved colleges and universities, to transfer members who have moved into the area from other branches, and to all current members.

Beginning in October, the Princeton branch will meet the first Wednesday of each month. Emphasis during 1973-74 will be on the topics of "Media: Issues in Communication" and "Global Interdependence."

Anyone desiring more information about AAUW or the Membership Picnic may call Elizabeth Brown (201) 359-3395; Susan Goebel (609) 924-7627; or Marilyn Rutledge (609) 737-1664.

ANTIQUITY SHOW PLANNED

In Flemington Sept. 9. An antique show and sale will be held Sunday, September 9 (rain date September 16) from 10 until 6 by the volunteers of the Hunterdon Exchange at the Flemington Fairgrounds, Route 31.

For the 13th year this annual outdoor event will benefit the Hunterdon Medical Center, the hospital serving Hunterdon County.

ON THE MARCH TO WASHINGTON: Although August 28, 1963 was very warm in Washington, the shade was cool and there was a light breeze to fan the hundreds of thousands of marchers who showed up for that major moment in the history of the civil rights movement. Pictured on that historic day were, from left, Princetonians Harry Davis, the Rev. William Tucker and Sidney Davis.

Going Back in Princeton

FIVE YEARS AGO

August 29, 1968. Three Princeton University geologists, Dr. John C. Maxwell, Dr. Erling Dorf and his wife, and Dr. Hollis D. Hedberg, were in Prague, Czechoslovakia, when the Russians sent tanks and troops into the country to counter the Dubcek regime.

Dr. Maxwell wrote to his wife of the wave after wave of jet planes that roared over the city, the burning of Soviet tanks by youths, machine gun fire by Russian soldiers used to disperse the crowds. All of them made it out of the country safely.

Michael De Mauro received a bronze medal and $500 from the Carnegie Hero Fund for his heroism the previous summer in saving five people from drowning in heavy surf off Harvey Cedars.

The Princeton Regional Board of Education was in the process of warning West Windsor once again that it could not accept high school students from that municipality after 1970. The warnings had been issued since 1966.

Democratic candidates for Township Committee James A. Floyd and Thomas B. Hartmann got off to an early start on the campaign by proposing a civil rights commission. "Informal ways of handling grievances are no longer adequate," Mr. Hartmann observed. "There are too many problems that are too complicated for the average mayor to handle effectively on a part-time basis." The candidates said that Borough and Township working together could afford a fulltime paid director.

And just five years ago, bacon was 49 cents a pound, chicken 25 cents a pound, ground sirloin, 99 cent a pound, Delmonico steaks, $1.79 a pound.

TEN YEARS AGO

August 29, 1963. Parishoners at Trinity Church were considering alternative plans for restoration of the structure the main part of which was ravaged by fire in February. One plan, pegged at $225,000 was to essentially rebuild the church as it was before the fire, the other called for some expansion of the nave, Lady Chapel and baptistry at a cost of $550,000.

Another building project, the Maurice Hawk School, a new West Windsor elementary school, had been completed and was ready to receive students. Containing 14 classrooms, a library, kindergarten, offices and all-purpose room, it was constructed in less than a year for $659,000.

The municipal parking yard off Park Place had been opened for several weeks, but no one seemed to know it was there. A survey reported only 12 to 15 cars parked in the 78-space lot on most afternoons and the Borough was anxious to publicize its existence. That's one problem the Borough would love to have now.

The Jaycees were ready to stage their second annual football game between the Giants and Eagles, with hopefully, TOWN TOPICS reported, fewer bees, traffic jams and fights among fans in the stands.

Numerous bee stings had the first aid squad busy, traffic jams on several streets kept police on the move, and alcohol smuggled into the stadium was responsible for numerous outbreaks of fistcuffs.

Unfortunately, it also impaired the aim of the combatants. One major battle involved a guy who swung at another, missed and clobbered his own wife instead.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

August 31, 1958. The Borough's new acting police chief, appointed to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Chief John H. Smith, was Raymond Mondone.

One of the most successful real estate promotions in the history of the town had created something of a traffic jam. A house, labeled a "storied storybook home" on Randall Road had brought 2,000 visitors, plus children, to inspect its many innovations, including an indoor swimming pool.

The Playhouse and manager Richard Knight were eagerly awaiting the arrival of the oscar-winning film, "Around The World in 80 Days." The number one picture in 1956, it was finally getting to Princeton, necessitating a raise in prices to 90 cents for adults for afternoon showings, and $1.50 at night.

The YM-YWCA had raised more than 72 of its goal of $375,000 for the building of its new home on Avalon Place.

Prices 15 years ago: Delmonico steaks 87 cents a pound, roast beef 85 cents a pound, turkeys, 39 cents a pound, a three-pound package of ground sirloin on special for 89 cents. Princeton Savings was advertising reduced mortgage loan rates, thus making it easy to pick up that Gentleman's Country Estate, with beautifully restored four-bedroom house, swimming pool, situated on almost 100 acres, for only $58,000.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

August 30, 1953. On the threshold of his 25th year in the service of the Borough's schools Superintendent B. Woodhull Davis presented a voluminous annual report which documented a period of solid accomplishment.

Mr. Davis noted that in 1952-53, even in what he termed "these difficult times," the Borough's schools operated within their authorized budget, although the margin of saving was just a little over $1,700 in an annual budget amounting to more than $730,000.

An interesting I.Q. analysis of the high school's enrollment revealed that 0.1% were in the Near Genius Group, 7% Very Superior, 24.4% Superior, 59.3% Normal, and 0.7% borderline.

Princetonians were being plagued by a swarm of "Would You Takes?" as they were called in the automobile trade. "Would You Takes" were postcards from out-of-town automobile dealers, supposedly offering a whopping price to the owner for his car as a trade-in on a new model. Nothing but deception awaited those who acted upon the offer. TOWN TOPICS reported.

An eminent Princetonian, Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer placed in proper perspective all the official handwringing evoked by confirmation that Russia had finally developed its own Atomic bomb.

Looking into the future Dr. Oppenheimer wrote, "The very least we can conclude is that our 20,000th bomb, useful as it may be in filling the vast munitions pipelines of a great war, will not in any deep strategic sense offset their 2,000th."

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

August 30, 1948. Melodramatic murder, with all its horrible and tragic implications, had come to Princeton 25 years ago this week. Shot and killed was Joseph K. Watkins, of 293 Nassau Street, as he sat behind the wheel of his car in the driveway of the Princeton Inn.

The suspect, who subsequently killed himself, was a former business associate, Henry M. Brooks, who owed Mr. Watkins a debt of $72,000. The shooting was the third in a little over three years in Princeton.

It Was Cool and I Was Listening to This Book....

Standing - room - only audiences at film showings . . . 900 kids in the variety of summer programs . . . six cassette players at work "and we could use more. . ."

That was summertime at the Princeton Public Library. "The Maltese Falcon" and "Born Yesterday" drew the standees, everything from game swaps to story - hour's drew the kids, anything on tape from Mark Twain to rock drew for the cassettes.

Day care centers and day camps in Princeton were satellites of the library. This summer, over 600 children's books were lent to the four or five day centers in Princeton so that each spot could have its own library. ("Every single book was returned" the library reports.)

Four cassette players went to the children's department of the library on summer loan from the Princeton Regional Schools. Added to the pair the library already has, this made six and often all were in full and humming use. When you add the six kids listening to the record player, that's a dozen young library users, all intent and happy.

Listen! "Kids who would never pick up a book," comments Jessica Lamkin, children's room assistant. Mark Twain in infinite variety, a cassette called "Ghosties and Ghoulies," Rip van Winkle, Hans Christian Anderson and even, if adults can believe it, Rudyard Kipling.

Kipling is a curious and freakish favorite, chiefly because the stories are read by Vincent Price, an actor with a highly theatrical British accent. "Lassen!" the kids shout, and then double with laughter as the actor's voice reels out of the tape.

Monsters - no reflection on Mr. Price - were immensely popular this summer, probably because of the papier-mache monsters made by kids themselves during a Wednesday afternoon workshop. Every summer the children's department has a theme - one year it was a tree, growing around a library pillar, another year it was a sailboat and a beach load of books, this year . . . monsters.

"They read Alfred Hitchcock's 'Three Investigators'; they listened to that 'Ghosties and Ghoulies,'" the librarian records, "and they listened to the 'King Kong' record!"

Along with "King Kong" two popular records were the Jackson Five and "The Sound of Music."

"Our headphones are worn to bits!" she smiles, "we expanded our record collection to pop stuff this year so the younger kids don't have to go up to the adult collection."

Live listening was important, too: more than 300 children went to the evening story hours with John Counts - this was his sixth summer - and the morning story times with Edith Kogan.

"After Hours," at 9 p.m., listeners gathered around the spiral staircase to hear Caroline Moseley, folk singer, and the instrumentalist Lonesome Drifters. Even when the power failed and the wait stretched into 45 minutes, the contented audience remained and drank soft drinks supplied by the library.

And Reading, Books? Well, sure. Kids read from The Great Brain series, and also Judy Blume's "Are You There, God?"

Parents, home in the hammock while the kids were on cassettes in the library, were reading from an off-lot list of "best sellers." Light summer reading in Walter Kaufman's "Without Guilt and Justice," which explored Nietzschean ethics, contrasted with Barbara Howard's recollections of LBJ's Washington, "Laughing All the Way." Tom Wicker's book on Washington (fiction), "Facing the Lions," has 14 reserves.

"The Growth and Development of Mothers," by Angela McBride, is described by librarian Robert Staples as an interesting comment on women's lib. And "Sybil," the true story of a woman who had 17 personalities, whether liberated or not, has nine reserves. "How to be Your Own Best Friend" is the provocative title of a glossy help-yourselfer by Mildred Newman and Bernard Berkowitz, a husband-and-wife psychoanalysis team.

RUTGERS HAS COURSES

Her course, "Problems and Issues for the Woman in Transition" is designed for women who are in, have been, or will soon be in some transitional stage of their life. Both lectures and group discussions will focus on the psychology erans in 1948 appeared to be tabular for the time being because the legislature could not agree on any way to finance it. Plans included boosting the beer and gasoline taxes, or adding nine percent to consumer's electric bills.

of women early socialization, discontinuities in the life cycle, and psychological and sociological barriers to full participation in society.

Specific transitional periods will include parenthood as crisis, divorce, widowhood, remarriage, and shifting gears in the middle years.

Ms. Walstedt is a doctoral candidate in personality and social psychology at Rutgers University, working on a dissertation about the psychology of women.

She was formerly a psychotherapist both in private practice and in various mental health clinics and has done college teaching at San Francisco State College and Rutgers University. She has been active in the women's movement in the Princeton area and is a member of the National Association of Women Psychologists.

A course, "Feminist Perspectives" will be taught by Dr. Elinor Gersman, Associate Dean of Livingston College of Rutgers, and will provide an opportunity to examine these perspectives through the use of essays, films, literature and guest speakers.

Special emphasis will be placed on the changing female role in various social institutions such as home, family, work. Topics will include human sexuality and the life experiences of different kinds of women.

Dr. Gersman received her Ph.D. from Washington University and has been teaching education, philosophy, history and women's liberation courses in various universities the past few years. (Information on this series can be obtained from Dean Gersman at (201) 932-4087).

Other courses of interest to women include the "College Anticipation Program" and "Consumer Problems," taught by Dr. Eleanor Lewis of Trenton. The anticipation program is given each year and is designed specifically for women who are considering enrolling in college level studies after a lapse of time since their formal education. Basic study skills which support re-entry to the academic world will be featured.

The consumer workshop is designed to teach the buyer how to protect him or herself from unjust or illegal consumer practices, with special emphasis on credit, home repairs and service contracts.

Each of these non credit courses meets once a week for an eight week period with either a morning or evening session available. Registration is through the Rutgers Extension

Window Reflections

By

Lewis F. Okenica

There I was a Republican, going from booth to booth in the Chocolate Shoppe last Friday, asking the Democrats I know to sign the nominating petition for Michael Morris, of Rocktown Road, West Amwell Township.

No, I was not being cynical nor contemptuous of the democratic process, but I was genuinely interested in seeing that Morris was able to gather enough names to earn a place on the ballot in the Primaries.

In fact, my feelings at the time were the opposite of cynicism. Because I knew most everyone in the eating place, I felt that it was my duty to introduce Morris to those in there who could see one of their candidates in the flesh.

I've known Mike for about two or three years and have found him to be a fine, upstanding man of character and good will. But above all, I think he is a man who has high standards as a human being.

During the many times I have seen him in groups discussing issues of the day, I have seen his brows darken and his eyes flash as he took an opposite view even though he was a minority of one. I believe his standards encompass the broad issues of social significance, positive values and an honesty all of which are consistent and unwavering.

Morris will bring something new to the 14th Assembly District if he is nominated in the Primaries and if he is not saddled by the archaic political process of the Democratic party whereby he must knuckle down to what the party bosses say or else.

I'm not saying the Democrats are the only ones who are being led by the nose. We Republicans are right in there with the Democrats as far as voting the party and not our own welfare.

To me, Morris is something new yet a man I've known quite a long time, he is a man who has not been judged before. He is receptive and, I think, care-less of failure.

Probably the most eloquent thing said about him was by William Martin of Ringoes, last week when he said, "Mike Morris' one trouble might be that he is too honest."

I consider that a plus but how will one honest man make out among those wolves in Trenton if he is elected?

Princeton as Cinderella

Sea Girt is toying with the idea of a new high school, and it's enough to make Princeton's school board sob with envy.

There are 160 students of high school age in Sea Girt, and $152,294 of taxable property behind each one. Princeton has 1,385 high school students. The town's 3,772 pupils are each backed by $92,900.

Sea Girt's board of education is planning a high school with ten faculty members, most of them with master's degrees. Air conditioning, carpeting, a student lounge — of course.

There will be a referendum, and if it passes the school would open two years from now with a budget of $467,200.

The Monmouth County superintendent gulped a little when he heard about Sea Girt's plan, but he says that after all, some private schools are as small as this. He warns the community, however, that interscholastic athletics would have to be curtailed, and teenagers would have limited social contacts.

The proposal is now before state officials.

CAMPAIGN TO BEGIN

To Increase Scouting Membership. The annual fall membership campaign in the George Washington Council, Boy Scouts of America, will begin September 1, when 250 Scout troops and Cub Scout packs enroll new members.

Called Scouting Roundup, the Scout council expects to give an opportunity to 2,000 boys to join the Boy Scouts of America.

Special events scheduled for fall include School Night for Scouting on October 3, Uniform Day, and district camporees. A boy may become a Scout when he is 11 years old or has completed the fifth grade or a Cub Scout when he is 8 years old or has completed the second grade, Foran said.

In addition to the boys who join existing packs and troops, the George Washington Council's organization and extension committee expects to organize about 30 new packs and troops in Mercer, Hunterdon and Warren Counties.

The Boy Scouts of America provides a program for boys and young adults that is designed to develop desirable qualities of character, to train in the responsibilities of participating citizenship, and to develop personal fitness.

Cub Scouting is a family- and home-centered program, and Scouting is designed to achieve the BSA objectives primarily through a vigorous outdoor program.

Information about Scouting and Cub Scouting is available from the council service center, 2620 Brunswick Pike, Trenton, N.J. 08638, or by phone 823-1414.

GRANT TO AID STUDY

By University Professor. A grant of $16,918 from the National Endowment for the Humanities will support a forthcoming study by a Princeton University faculty member on the social and political history of the First Carlist War, one of two major civil wars fought in Spain during the 19th century.

Dr. John Coverdale, Assistant Professor of History, hopes to explain the mass basis of Carlism by examining the issues and appeals used to rally peasants to the movement and the characteristics of their socio-economic environment, of their religious beliefs and practices, and of their way of life that made them respond to such appeals.

The work, to continue through 1976, will culminate in a book-length social and political history of the Carlist War of

It was, points out Coverdale, a war which saw "conservative peasants fighting against political liberalism, centralization and the disestablishment of church and com-

A generation or so ago phone service meant simply having a phone. It was black and had a rotary dial.

But times have changed. Today, convenient phone service means having the right phone, in the right place. That's why we have different phones—all kinds—so you can choose the ones that are just right for you, as well as your home and family lifestyle.

Look around your home. Do you have phones where you need them most—where you live, work or simply spend a lot of your time?

Consider the phones shown here in relation to your home. If you think some changes are in order or want some advice, get in touch with your Service Representative. A call to your local Telephone Business Office will do the trick.

1. Our basic dial phone comes in wall and desk models—in decorator colors at no extra charge.
2. Modern Touch-Tone® service makes calling twice as fast, twice as easy. Available at a special bargain price if you need three or more.
3. The sculptured Trimline® phone puts everything right in the palm of your hand. Since you don't need the base to make a call and because it comes with a longer cord, you can tuck it in an out-of-the-way place.
4. Our stylish, practical Princess® phone. Soft 'night light' dial and compact size make it ideal for the bedroom.
5. The speakerphone lets you carry on a conversation 'hands-free.' Amplifies both sides of the conversation.
6. Card Dialer. It's a telephone... it's a memory bank. Frequently called numbers are recorded on plastic punch cards. To make a call, put the card in the slot and press a button.
7. Wall phones in various sizes, shapes and colors. Including our designer panel phone for the architectural built-in look.
8. If you have difficulty using the telephone, we have special equipment to make calling easier and more enjoyable. Including this phone—it helps you hear better.

munal lands." The war pitted defenders of the liberal monarchy against conservatives—Carlists—who called for a return to the old regime, including royal government unfettered by liberal constitutional restraints and the Inquisition.

Coverdale plans to do research for a year starting in February 1974 at the local and regional archives in Navarre and the Basque country of Spain; a followup visit will be made for a semester in 1976.

"The study should reveal a great deal about the social structure of northern Spain and increase our knowledge of the responses of peasant societies to the tensions and conflicts induced by modernization," the Princeton scholar points out. "It should also tell us something about the origins of regional nationalism in Spain."

JOB SKILL FOR ALL

With High School Diploma. By the time they finish high school, all pupils should have mastered a job skill that enables them to earn a living. This is the thrust of a new national movement in public schools called "career education."

The term does not mean an expansion of vocational education. The president of the New Jersey Education Association, who is pushing career education, says it should involve all public school students because even those who are going to college can benefit from a saleable skill. The skill could help students finance college, and could also give them a greater sense of personal and financial security.

Career education advocates claim that 2.5 million students graduate from or leave high school each year unprepared for the work world. The goal of career education is to give all students at least one skill that can be offered to the current labor market.

Experts believe that college education has been overemphasized, and too many students pressured to go on to college from high school. This does not square with the facts of working life, because only about 12 per cent of the nation's jobs absolutely require a college degree, these educators say.

Career education means a change in the attitude of employers who prefer not to hire teenage help, the NJEA comments. The concept of career education requires that business and industry cooperate by hiring students part-time in "Work - Study" programs, such as those in effect at Princeton High, under which the teenager learns in school part of the day and earns on a related job during another part of the day.

Some educators would even like to move the concept of career preparation to the primary grades, and also make work - study programs available in middle-schools.

In elementary schools, pupils would examine potential careers. They would be exposed to a variety of general fields of work, and an understanding of the social significance of work.

The middle - school level would emphasize orientation and exploration of the work world; provide information on jobs; examine kinds of jobs interviewing and applying for jobs; examine kind of jobs that take similar preparation and require similar responsibilities and duties; and perhaps include on-the-job training or observation. In Princeton's Middle School, pre-teen students have had an opportunity to join a program very much like this.

At the senior - high level, the focus would be on selection, intensified preparation, and placement. Students in work-study programs gain actual on-the-job experience and feel the impact of earning a salary.

Advocates of career education are not seeking to downgrade college learning, NJEA educators emphasize. Instead, they would like to prepare all students for the activities they will undertake after leaving high school. For most, this will mean making a living.

FILM PROGRAM CHANGED

By State Library. Weekend movies will replace daily movies in the New Jersey State Museum Auditorium beginning Saturday as the Trenton facility resumes its regular fall-winter-spring programming schedule.

Films will be shown at 11 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. on Saturdays and at 2 and 4 p.m. on Sundays. There is no admission charge. At the second Sunday show, children under 12 must be accompanied by an adult.

On September 1 and 2 the program will take a look at marine ecology and research with "The Endless Sea," a full-length color film by famed underwater photographer Owen Lee.

Programs the following two weeks will examine primitive cultures. On the 8th and 9th the movie will be "The Hunters" about bushmen of South-West Africa and Bechuanaland, and on the 15th and 16th it will be "Dead Birds" featuring West New Guinea's Dani tribe.

"In Time of Man," the program on the 22nd and 23rd, will look at man's niche in the world's ecological history from prehistoric times to the present.

Completing September movie programming Sept. 29 and 30 will be "The Hollywood Dream Factory," a nostalgic review of the film industry and its stars with narration by Dick Cavett.

The State Museum is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sundays.

COURSES ARE OFFERED

On Labor Movement. Mercer County Community College's Union Leadership Academy will offer four six-week courses on various aspects of the U.S. labor movement beginning Wednesday, Sept. 12.

All courses will be taught on Wednesday evenings from 7:30 p.m. to 10:15 p.m. in rooms ET 107/109 at the West Windsor Campus.

Professor Albert Hunza of the Rutgers Medical School Psychology Department will teach "Labor and Government" on Wednesday evenings September 12 thru October 17.

From Wednesday, October 31 thru Wednesday, December 5, "Labor and Society" will be taught by Dr. Peter Stein of Douglass College.

"Theories of the Labor Movement" and "Contemporary Labor Problems" will be offered in the spring semester to complete the eight required courses in the two-year academy program. The course cycle will be reinitiated in the fall of 1974.

Students new to the labor academy in the fall, 1973 and spring, 1974 courses as well as those students who have completed the first year of course work may enroll in the courses.

Each course will cost $18.50. Registration can be completed by mail or at the beginning of the first class session. Further information can be obtained from the business secretary of any Mercer County local or by calling Donald Shelton at 586-4800, extension 230.

Golf Owco, Jr., 15 Dublin Road, Pennington, has been appointed Academic Dean of the Columbus Boychoir School. Currently Director of Music at Lawrence Road Presbyterian Church, Mr. Owen has been Director of Music at Breck School and The Hun School.

He was graduated from Yale University with a Bachelor of Music degree, and received an M. A. in Music History from the University of Minnesota. He has also studied at the Institute for Advanced Study, and Princeton University.

Dr. Ivan A. Gepner, Brunswick Pike, has been appointed assistant professor of biology at Monmouth College, effective September 1.

Dr. Gepner, currently engaged in research at Princeton University, holds both the M.A. and Ph.D. from Princeton, where he has held teaching assistantships and research assignments since 1967.

He graduated in 1967 from Rutgers University with summa cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa honors, and participated in the Henry Rutgers Scholar Program.

He has done extensive research work in hematology, and was in 1971 at the Bermuda Biological Station. At Princeton he held a National Institute of Health Pre-doctoral Trainee award.

Dr. Edward C. Taylor, 288 Western Way, the A. Barton Hepburn Professor of Organic Chemistry at Princeton University, is 1974 winner of the American Chemical Society's $2,000 Award for Creative Work in Synthetic Organic Chemistry, sponsored by the Synthetic Organic Chemical Manufacturers Association.

A world authority on heterocyclic chemistry, Dr. Taylor is being recognized for his imaginative synthetic methods, particularly the development of thallium reagents for use in the synthesis of organic compounds. An indispensable tool of the organic chemist, thallium reagents are versatile, reactive compounds that have made possible the simple preparation of a wide range of compounds in high yield and purity.

Dr. Taylor also is well-known for his synthesis of natural products, including a vitamin of the B complex and the active principle of marijuana.

Elaine Behr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Behr, The Great Road, has been admitted to the World Campus Afloat program of Chapman College (Orange, Calif.) for the fall semester at sea. What was the strangest thing that ever happened in a big-time football game? . . . Many experts vote for an incident that happened in the 1954 Cotton Bowl game . . . You might remember this one . . . Dick Moegle of Rice was running down the field for a touchdown . . . But a substitute on the Alabama bench jumped off the bench, ran on to the field and tackled Moegle as he went by! . . . Officials gave Moegle a touchdown, crediting him with a 95-yard run even though he ran only 53.

Oddly enough, the Oakland Raiders of the National Football League have the best winning percentage of all teams in the NFL in the last 10 years — yet they have never won the Super Bowl!

Who would you say have been the greatest tennis players of all-time? . . . A survey recently picked the top five men in history as: Bill Tilden, Don Budge, Jack Kramer, Pancho Gonzales and Rod Laver . . . And the choice for the top five women of all-time: Helen Wills, Suzanne Lenglen, Alice Marble, Maureen Connolly and Billie Jean King.

I bet you didn't know . . . that most private health insurance plans don't pay for dental expenses Student accident insurance pays up to $100 per sound natural tooth.

Giants Defeat Eagles Impressively, 42 to 21

There were two contests staged in Palmer Stadium Saturday. One, between the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Eagles, proved to hold little interest as Alex Webster's steadily-improving team rolled to a 42-21 triumph over the floundering opposition.

The second, a continuation of the race between Giant quarterbacks Norm Snead and Randy Johnson to see which one can post more points on the board, delighted a majority of the 41,000 fans present — most of whom had come to back the New Yorkers. It was a stand-off in one sense, because the Giants scored 21 points during the half that saw each quarterback in charge. One of those achieved during Johnson's regime, however, was a pass interception grabbed by Larry Jacobson, a 255-lb. tackle. The 37-yard return marked the fifth TD on pass interceptions in as many exhibition games this summer.

Largely because the Giants are convinced they will reach the playoffs this year for the first time in a decade, the game had a better pace than many of its predecessors in this series — despite 95-degree heat and oppressive humidity. A bit slow to start — their first score did not come until 20 minutes of action had passed — they spent the afternoon showing their fans why they feel brighter days lie immediately ahead.

Snead had a fine first half, completing 9 of 13 passes, throwing for two touchdowns and bootlegging the third on a two-yard sprint that badly out-foxed the Eagles' slow-thinking defense. Giant ball carriers, notably Rocky Thompson, supplemented the sharp passing. Thompson gaining 93 yards on 14 carries and earning the game ball.

Two TDs in Three Minutes. The victors drove 64 yards for their first score, a Snead to Vin Clements pass from three yards out finding the receiver all alone in the right corner of the end zone because the Eagles had been thoroughly deceived into watching Thompson on a fake handoff. Less than three minutes later, the Giants had their second, set up on a 40 yard punt return by Pete Athos. Snead's first-down pass to wide receiver Don Herrmann erased the remaining 17 yards.

John Reaves, whom the Eagles appear to have shunted aside as quarterback in favor of Roman Gabriel, had a brief moment of success before the period ended, taking his team 72 yards in nine plays. Tom Sullivan split right tackle for the final two yards.

Clarence Campbell, the big defensive tackle who grabbed one of Joe Namath's passes for a touchdown against the Jets two weeks ago, nearly had another in Palmer Stadium. He returned a fumbled handoff from the 12 to the 3 before being tackled.

Half a minute before the quarter ended, Snead toured left end while the Philadelphia defense followed Thompson and the fake to the right. Pete Gogolak's third of six extra points left Philadelphia trailing, 21-7, at the half.

Giants Stay Hot. Several sharp passes by Randy Johnson played a part in the Giants' next two touchdowns. An 18-yard pitch to Bob Grim midway through the third quarter made it 28-7, and with 2:25 to go, Clements capped a 71-yard march by hurdling the middle from a yard out.

Gabriel showed to his greatest advantage in the final period, passing twice to wide receiver Harold Carmichael for Eagle scores. In between these touchdowns, however, he gave one to the Giants when he hurled a short, pressured pass directly at Jacobson, who was conveyed for 50 yards by three other jubilant linemen. The pressure that jarred Gabriel was applied by Rich Glover, the Nebraska alumnus who was an early Giant draft choice.

Guilty of three glaring errors (two fumbles and the point-blank interception) that set up New York touchdowns, the Eagles lost their fourth straight exhibition game after a narrow victory over Buffalo. Disorganization is apparent to the extent that on three occasions — one of them a goal-line stand — they lined up with ten men on the field.

Reaves may have a future as a quarterback, but it is difficult to see why Philadelphia management thinks Gabriel has one at 33. On the other hand, the Los Angeles Rams do: to get Gabriel, the Eagles traded their top receiver, their first draft choice in 1974, their first in 1975 and their third in 1976.

As for the Giants, they are after five weeks the only undefeated, untied team in the NFL, with a game Saturday at 8 against the Cleveland Browns at Akron giving them a shot at a perfect pre-season season. Fans here can see the game live on Channel 2.

The combination of capable quarterbacking, Ron Johnson's fine ball carrying and a solid offensive line, should keep them in most ball games during the long season. Despite optimistic comments about their defense, however, it still appears vulnerable, and it may well be that shortcoming which will bar the path to the playoffs.

TOURNAMENT REPORT

From Springdale Club. Betty Sanford and Sue Paine finished in a tie for first place in a point tournament held last week at Springdale Golf Club. Each has 37.

Four points were given for an eagle, three for a birdie, two for par and one for a bogey.

The twilight tournament held for mixed foursomes was won by Debbie and Kester Pierson. Mim and Jack Houghton placed second. Low gross was captured by Lou and Bill Millman.

The Pro Lady Tournament, in which Jim Bultgren, club pro, plays one hole with each twosome, drew 36 players. His score was 72.

Anne McHugh won with a match of cards with Ann Poole, after they tied at 64. Mary Rogers had 65. Fourth place was won by Betty Sheeran over Dorothy Schoch and Jane Bonthron, who tied with a 66.

The flag tournament was won by Kathy Shillaber who put her flag down on the 20th hole, having completed 18 and started her second round before she caught up to her average score. Rose Johnson was second, Joan Thompson third and Jean Miller fourth.

The club's member - guest for women (best ball foursome) was won from a field of 64 by Audrey Gates, Peggy Miller, Joan Thompson and Bobbie Bennett with a 60 net. Second place went to Debbie Pierson and her guests, Sue Blair of Bedens Brook, Jane Hayes and Helen Walker from Hopewell Valley, with a match of cards over Kate Conover and her guest, Barbara Lyle of Bedens Brook, and Mary Rogers and her guest, Suzanne Zudnak of Trenton Country Club, who finished third.

PRINCETONIAN WINS

In Delaware Tennis. Wilmington, Delaware, was the site of another victory for Princeton tennis enthusiast Andre Eichenberger.

Playing in the 14 and under group at the New Castle County Junior Open Championships, he toppled the number one seeded player, Bill Ramsey, ranked number nine in the Middle States, 6-4, 6-2. On his way to the title, Andre eliminated four other players, from the draw of 64, without losing a single game.

Several other Princeton tennis players made the trip to Wilmington. David Loy, representing the 18's, won in the second round and then lost to the number two seed, Ray Guyer, 6-3, 7-5. Chuck Kohli competed in the boys 12-and-under category; Heidi Eichenberger played in the girls 18's; and Randy Thomas joined David Loy for the 18's doubles.

Veteran Backfield Primary Factor in Bright Outlook at PHS

(This is the first of three articles on Princeton High School's football prospects for 1973.)

"We're looking forward to it. This is the one we've been waiting for."

Jim Beachell, assistant football coach of the Princeton High School Little Tigers, was speaking for himself and head coach Dick Wood on the eve of the start of practice which began Saturday morning.

The backfield is set with lettermen at every position, including a premier passer in quarterback John Mooney. The offensive line is strong at both flanks, at the two guard positions and center. Only at tackle are there question marks.

The new run-and-shoot offense installed by Wood last season has been tested under fire and proven successful. There are 14 returning lettermen.

A Winning Tradition. All of these are solid assets. But what has Wood and Beachell wringing their hands more than anything else in anticipation is the quality of the junior and seniors on the squad.

Last year's sophomore team won six and tied one — the first PHS sophomore team to go undefeated. The jayvee team was 8-0 last fall. In short, the experienced players on the squad have come up and developed in an atmosphere of winning.

"It's there all right," stated Beachell. "The only question is, can we make them produce."

To understand Wood's and Beachell's enthusiasm, one need only to compare it to the start of the season last September. Then the two coaches had just emerged from a long struggle with the school ad-

"A NATURAL RUNNER" is what coach Dick Wood says of Ron Campbell, who will be one of the starting halfbacks on the Little Tiger eleven. Campbell is a senior.

Wood, and in the 6-1, 171-pound senior southpaw, he has what could easily be the best passing arm in the county.

Twice last year, Mooney came off the bench and threw a TD pass on his first play. His 44-yard pass to Zinsmeister with less than a minute to play gave PHS an exciting win over Perth Amboy.

Mooney is not the runner his predecessor, Greg Kline, was but Wood nonetheless feels his running will be better this year. "He's sure of himself and I know he'll be better prepared," Wood said. Mooney will call plays.

Behind Mooney is Pete Watson, 6-1, 183. A good runner and passer, with a slight edge in passing, Watson lacks variety experience but played in every jayvee game. Like Mooney, his passing is accurate, although Mooney has the quicker release. Wood calls Watson, whose father is principal of the new West Windsor High School, "a real good replacement."

Halfbacks: Of Ron Campbell, 5-8, 176, Wood says, "a natural runner." "The kid's a STARTING 11th SEASON: Dick Wood this week begins his eleventh season as head coach of the PHS football team. He and Steinert's Pete Brescia share the honor of being the dean of Mercer County coaches.

ministration over control of team discipline.

Wood had lost two coaches and had to replace them with two newcomers. He and Beachell alone had to try to teach an entire new offense in three weeks.

There was a question of whether the psychological effect of losing all its games the year before, a season in which the squad was ruptured by racial dissension, would carry over to the present squad.

With so little going for them, Wood and Beachell managed to guide the Little Tigers to a 5-4 record — a much greater accomplishment than the record indicates. Now all that is behind them.

Still Run and Shoot. Wood will go again with his run-and-shoot formation which features only one set back, with the halfbacks in slots and the ends set wide. The team lines up the same way for each play; the balanced formation never changes. The running and passing are equal.

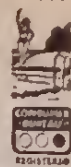

"We'll pass any place, any time," said Wood. "Field position or down has no effect." What the formation does is react. React to what the defense is doing or may do. It calls for a quarterback being able to read the enemy defense quickly and adjust to it.

Wood is convinced he has the quarterback and the backfield to handle the job. They are Mooney, halfbacks Bob Zinsmeister and Ron Campbell and fullback Jack Bayer. Zinsmeister, 5-7, 160, who scored six touchdowns last year (three rushing, three pass receptions) is co-captain of the team with guard Dave Harwood.

streak," adds Beachell. "There's not much difference between Zinsmeister and Campbell as far as running and passing go," comments Wood.

Zinsmeister, a standout baseball player and wrestler as well, can do it all. Among his six TDs last year was an 85-yard punt return against Hillsborough. If he has an edge against Campbell it would be in blocking.

The top senior back-up man is Steve Kopp (5-10, 159) who played mostly on defense last year. He has speed and good hands. Other seniors are the small (5-4, 150) but quick Kevin Scudder and George Bess, who has no varsity experience but "wants to play," says Wood.

The junior candidates are Robert Wood, 5-6, 176, who did most of the halfback running on the sophomore squad and 160 pound Dave Lion.

Fullback. To say that fullback Jack Bayer is hard posed is like saying Sophia Loren is shapely. It simply isn't enough. If the 5-11, 176-pound Bayer has a fault, it is that he is too aggressive.

"I've never had a fullback so fast in getting off the ball or running lower," says Wood. Last year Bayer was used primarily as a middle linebacker on defense while he watched Bob Weisbecker run from his coveted fullback slot. Weisbecker scored four touchdowns rushing but Bayer may have fans asking "Weisbecker who?" early in the season — if his aggressiveness can keep him from being hurt.

George Reynolds, 5-11, 148, possessor of one of the sharpest football minds on the squad, will step in if Bayer gets sidelined. Light for the position, Reynolds was used primarily as a defensive safetyman last year, but, says Wood, "he really wants to play."

Two junior candidates who are built like fullbacks are Jeff Benfer, 5-10, 184, and John Costas, 5-9, 192. Both are largely untested, although Benfer did play on the sophomore team.

"I think with Campbell, Zinsmeister, Bayer and Mooney," said Wood summing up, "we have a real good backfield. It has balance and Watson is a good backup to Mooney." If there were any weak link, it would be Bayer's weight, Wood conceded.

Time — The Lack of It. The biggest hurdle facing Wood and Beachell is not personnel, but time. The first scrimmage will be held at Manalapan Saturday just eight days from the start of practice. Howell will be here Wednesday for a 3:30 scrimmage.

PHS is one of the few schools in the County — 1973, incidentally, marks the first year there will be an official Mercer County Football League — that does not attend a summer football camp.

That means Wood and Beachell have just three weeks to prepare for the September 22 home opener with always-tough Hamilton High the opening opponent since 1964 and a team PHS has tied but not defeated since 1967.

(In succeeding issues, TOWN TOPICS will discuss the line, defense and outlook.)

ALL-STAR GAME SET

As Basketball Opener, "Athletes in Action," featuring talent from around the country, will open the Princeton University basketball season on November 24.

An affiliate of the Campus Crusade for Christ International, "Athletes in Action" features such former collegiate standouts as Cal Anderson of Valley State, Clarence Brooks of Temple and Bill Hall of Oral Roberts.

Although the NCAA limits each member institution to 26 regular season games, it has made an exception for teams playing the "Athletes in Action." Thus Princeton will now play 27 regular season contests for the first time.

The game will be part of a special "Youth Day" package at Princeton, with all youngsters through 18 years of age able to purchase a $1 ticket to the Princeton-Dartmouth football game in the afternoon, and then a $1 ticket for the basketball game at night.

RESIDENT PRO NAMED

At Nassau Tennis Club, A native of Bombay, India, has been appointed resident professional at the Nassau Racquet & Tennis Club, Route 206, Belle Mead. Manu Jaminadas Chabria, a former junior and university champion in his native country, will be in charge of all tennis development programs and professional instruction at the club. Chabria captured the junior title in 1961 and '62, and the university title in '63 and '64. After graduation from the College of Commerce and Economics in India he left competitive tennis to enter the business field.

But in 1969 he embarked on a professional tennis career, and was certified and coached at the MSLTA courts in Bombay.

Since coming to the United States earlier this year he has worked with Welby Van Horn of the Choate School and the Caribe Hilton Hotel in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Chabria uses a scientific approach involving an emphasis on balance and a checkpoint system in introducing new students to the game.

WINNERS LISTED

In Pike Brook Golf, Marge Murphy was the low net winner in an 18-hole tournament held for women members of the Pike Brook Country Club. Belle Mead Anna Fuchs was credited with the longest drive.

Kathryn Seward had the low net for those who played nine holes. The longest drive was made by Ginny Flaherty.

HOLE-IN-1 CONTEST SET

For Jaycees Benefit. The Hightstown-East Windsor Jaycees and Franklin State Bank will sponsor a hole-in-one contest Saturday through Monday at the 19th Hole Golf Range on Butcher Road, just off Route 33 east of Twin Rivers. Proceeds will help finance the Jaycees' career opportunity grant program for vocational scholarships.

For a $1 contribution, competitors will get three shots on a 90-yard hole. Each ace will be rewarded with a $200 savings bond. Six prizes will be awarded for shots closest to the pin. Anyone hitting within a circle marked on the green will receive two free golf balls.

OTHER PAPERS will run your classifieds for half price, or for nothing if they do not sell. In TOWN TOPICS, you'll find more ads and better results.

Four Teams Have Solid Shot at 1973 Ivy Title

Dartmouth the team to beat, because it has finished first the last four years; Yale, Cornell, and, for the first time since 1959 — Penn — the chief challengers. That's the way pre-season estimates evaluate the 1973 Ivy League football chase. Princeton is thin enough in both lines, and has a sufficient rebuilding problem in the coaching transition so that the jury will be out on the Tigers for the first half of the season. Hopefully, they can top a second division in which form says that both Harvard and a stronger-than-usual Brown team will fall, with Columbia ticketed for the cellar. Optimum results for the Orange and Black in Bob Casciola's initial year would appear to be ability to return to first division, where Princeton last claimed an address three long years ago.

Dartmouth, whose composite record since Ivy play was formally launched in 1956 tops the other seven members, lost a near-unbelievable 32 lettermen and has only seven regulars back to fill the top 22 positions. Four of these seven, however, were All-Ivy as juniors — symbolic of the over-all football strength that permeates the football picture at Hanover.

Coach Jake Crouthamel's assets include fine running backs led by Rick Klupchak with a 6-plus yard average during the past two years, and a promising junior quarterback in 6-5

Tom Snickenberger, whose brother Walt will be in the Princeton backfield. The Dartmouth-Penn game on October 13 will go far to determine whether the Green can bag a fifth straight championship.

Yale, which walloped the Green, 45-14, last fall but could not handle Cornell and Penn, has most key players back — except Dick Jauron, its finest ball carrier since Calvin Hill. One source close to New Haven thinks that Jauron was such an integral part of the Blue's success for the past two seasons that Yale cannot make it to the top without him.

Nonetheless, Coach Carmen Cozza has many of the makings of a title-team: a good backfield and a solid defense that returns seven starters. There are holes in the offensive line but both the junior and senior classes at Yale are strong, and the Elis will be in the battle all the way.

Penn Believes It Can. For a dozen years after winning the Ivy title in 1959, Pennsylvania suffered through one miserable season after another until the scoreboard began to light up last fall. The Quakers had a shot at first place until the last day of the season, when they fell to Dartmouth at Philadelphia, but there is enough returning manpower, plus good sophomores, to make them feel they can take it all in '73.

A one-two punch consisting of a 6-4 end, All-Ivy Don Clune, and a 5-9 road runner, Adolph "Beep-Beep" Bellizeare, will make Penn a picturesque team on offense. The defensive secondary is a veteran unit, with the Quakers' problems created by a lack of size and depth.

Cornell, the fourth team given a good shot at picking up all the marbles, might be the actual favorite were it not for a schedule that sends the Red to Hanover and Philadelphia for its final two games. Coach John Musick may well have the league's best backfield

1972 Ivy Football
	W.	L.	T.	Pct.
Dartmouth	5	1	1	.786
Yale	5	2	0	.714
Cornell	4	3	0	.571
Penn	4	3	0	.571
Harvard	3	3	1	.500
Columbia	2	4	1	.357
Princeton	2	4	1	.357
Brown	1	6	0	.143

built around quarterback Mark Allen, the Ivy's total offense leader last year, and featuring senior Dan Malone and a top sophomore in Don Fanelli.

There is fine defensive strength at Ithaca, too, with the only real gaps in the receiving corps, where four top players were graduated. Princeton's rebuilding eleven will have its hands full at Cornell on the third Saturday of the season.

Harvard in Trouble. Harvard lost its entire starting backfield and much of its defensive secondary. Coach Joe Restie, whose arrival from Canada three years ago was hailed as the start of a promising era for the Crimson, appears headed for more difficulty at Cambridge, where his first two years have been productive of only nine victories and a tie in 18 outings.

In the 17-year composite Ivy standings, Brown is a solid eighth — pegged at .197 to .307 for seventh-place Columbia. It will take the Bruins a long time to move upward, but the start is almost certain to be made this fall.

Pete Beatrice, the quarterback who led the league in passing as a sophomore last year, will have nine lettermen on offense with him and nine more on the other platoon. Brown is out of the "breather" category for every opponent, and, with another good freshman squad in the wings, may reach first division status by 1974.

Only one of the league's eight members appears far weaker than it was in 1972. Gone are All-Ivy quarterback Don Jackson and 24 other lettermen from Columbia, which felt it had a shot at the title last year but finished 2-4-1. It could well be that the Lions will fail to top any of their seven Ivy foes this year.

All that's definite in the '73 race is that Columbia will surprise if it manages to finish out of the cellar. No one team has the strength to dominate, as Dartmouth, Yale and Princeton have on occasion in the past decade, and the race is very likely to go down to the final day of the season with as many as three teams still left in running on November 24.

BASE TEN LOSS ERASED
Favorable First Half. In the six months ended June 30 of this year Base Ten Systems Inc. of Route 1 earned a net profit of $61,287 on sales of $1,457,929.

The company, which designs airborne instrumentation products, viewed the results in favorable comparison to its first half of 1972, when it suffered a loss of $15,834 on sales of $557,308.

Net profit per share was 20 cents, compared to a loss of a nickel per share in the first six months of 1972.

Base Ten reported on the formation of a wholly owned subsidiary in England, which will soon begin operation as Base Ten Systems Ltd. "This operation will assume the engineering and manufacturing responsibilities which we have been carrying on under sub-contract over the past year and thereby strengthen our ability to sell in the European Economic Community," the company said.

"With the added improvement in our competitive status brought about by the dollar devaluation our attention has been increasingly turned to this market," Base Ten reported.

TWO ARE APPOINTED

To RCA Staff Here. Zygmunt M. Andrevski and Curtis R. Carlson have been added to the RCA Laboratories scientific staff at the David Sarnoff Research Center here. Mr. Andrevski is a member of the Engineering Services activity and Dr. Carlson, the Physical Electronics Research Laboratory.

Mr. Andrevski, a native of Poland, was graduated from Newark College of Engineering with a B.S. degree in Mechanical Engineering in 1968. Prior to working for RCA Laboratories, he was Program Manager for DATA 100. He lives at Windsor Castle Apartments, Cranbury.

Dr. Carlson, a native of Providence, R. I., was graduated from Worcester Polytechnic Institute with a B.S. degree in Physics in 1967. He received his M.S. degree in 1969 and his Ph.D. degree in Mechanical Engineering this year, both from Rutgers University. He lives at 51 Crescent Avenue, Rocky Hill.

MORTGAGE CHANCES GOOD

At John T. Henderson. "Strong sources of financing on local levels," developed over the year, "should enable us to continue to line up long-term mortgage commitments at stable interest rates," says John T. Henderson, the Princeton realtor.

The tight supply of mortgage money can also be overcome, at least to a degree, Mr. Henderson believes, by his firm's participation in RELO/Inter-City Relocation Service, a real estate referral program.

John T. Henderson Inc. is one of 650 broker-members in the service, which covers more than 7,000 cities and towns in the U.S. and abroad. Such a service is especially helpful to a person looking for a home in a new and unknown area, Mr. Henderson says.

"Before looking for a home in the new location, prospective buyers are now selecting a real estate referral service that can help arrange mortgage commitments at the other end, as well as assist in selling a present home," he says.

John T. Henderson Inc. has offices in Princeton, 353 Nassau Street, and in Hopewell.

RESEARCH FIRM FORMED

By Former RCA Scientist.—Establishment of Surface Technology, Inc., to conduct research on the plating of plastics, semiconductors, and metals for the electronics industry has been announced by Dr. Nathan Feldstein, president and founder.

The new firm located at 3481 U.S. 1, will offer consulting and research and development services to plating and electronics companies. Surface Technology also plans to develop and manufacture its own plating solutions and related products. With RCA Laboratories here from 1966 to 1973, Dr. Feldstein was actively engaged in research in electrochemistry, electroless plating, and electronic device manufacture. He received three RCA Laboratories Outstanding Achievement Awards for his work during these seven years.

Dr. Feldstein received a Bachelor's degree in Chemical Engineering from the City College of New York in 1960. He and his wife and three sons live in Kendall Park.

EXECUTIVES SURVEYED

On Watergate Issues. Business executives representing top and middle management in America's largest corporations feel that the Watergate scandal came about because of the standards of the individuals involved, and because of long standing political practices, rather than the standards of a single administration or political party. (See box)

This is the conclusion of a survey taken by the Princeton-based Opinion Research Corporation. The firm sampled the views of 513 corpor-

"Which one of these would you say is at the base of the behavior that has been revealed in the Watergate affair. Does such behavior reflect —

Corporate Executives

The standards of a single administration	6%
The standards of a political party	—
The standards of the individuals involved, rather than the administration or party	47%
Long-standing practice in politics	37%
No choice	10%

* Less than 1/2 percent.

ate executives at the height of the televised Watergate hearings.

Only six percent saw the Watergate behavior reflecting the standards of a single administration. Less than one-half percent attributed the behavior to the standards of a single political party.

In the same survey executives saw the long-term effects of Watergate leading to constructive political reforms. Almost three-quarters of the executives agreed that one of the effects of Watergate will be "redress of the balance between the executive and legislative branches of government to a greater parity between them."

Seventy-two percent thought there would be "serious reform legislation preventing private campaign financing from individual businessmen which might influence the outcome of political campaigns."

Sharp Division. Seventy percent agreed that Watergate would result in "raising of ethical standards of elected and appointed officials generally."

The respondents were divided 50-50 on whether Watergate would cause businessmen to be less inclined to become involved in government or politics in the future.

The survey was conducted with personal interviews of the executives in their offices from July 9 to August 6.

FILM SHOWING TUESDAY

At Public Library. The Public Library will present a free showing of the film "Auntie Mame" Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. and 8 p.m. Rosalind Russell stars as the wild-living Mame in this re-creation of the famous stage hit and musical comedy.

Coffee will be served before the morning program. The suggested audience interest is from junior high thru adult.

DANCE CLASSES OFFERED

At Adult Schools. With many new dances from Rumania, Yugoslavia, Mexico and Israel to add to his repertoire of international folk dances, Jerry Kaplan is set to begin his folk dance classes at the Princeton Adult School and at the Lawrence Adult School this fall.

Beginners to more advanced dancers will discover the informal atmosphere conducive to learning Greek, Turkish or Polish or other favorite ethnic dances. For hours and further information, call Jerry Kaplan at 896-1866.

ORGANIZATION PLANNED

For W. Windsor Scouts. The West Windsor-Plainboro Girl Scout Association has invited all girls and adults interested in joining Girl Scouts to come to the Maurice Hawk All-purpose Room on Monday evening at 8.

Organizers will be present to register the girls and place them in troops at every level — Brownies, Juniors, Cadettes and Seniors. Each girl must be accompanied by a parent.

For further information contact Mrs. Margaret Wilson, Neighborhood Chairman, 799-2738, or Mrs. Marilyn Hall, Association Chairman, 799-0983.

RUMMAGE SALE PLANNED

For Hospital Benefit. The 66th semi-annual rummage sale for the benefit of the Princeton Medical Center will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, October 2 and 3, at the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club, 454 Terhune Road. The sale will run from 9:30 to 5 Tuesday and until 7 Wednesday.

Donations of items may be made at the clubhouse Monday, October 1, from 9 to 5. Arrangements for moving heavy furniture may be made in advance by calling Mrs. Robert Mellinger, 924-0292. Items may also be picked up by car before Sunday, September 30, by calling Mrs. Wallace Rusher, 201-359-5040, or Mrs. Benjamin Britt Jr., 921-6386.

In prior years the rummage sales were conducted by the Hospital Aid Committee, which since its inception in 1918 has earned and donated $500,000 to the hospital through various fund-raising activities. This year the Hospital Aid Committee has merged with the Auxiliary, which also sponsors the June Hospital Fete and the Christmas Boutique.

PICNIC SUNDAY

For W. Windsor Democrats. The annual West Windsor Democratic Club picnic on Sunday will be the opening event in the campaign of William Stuart and Peter Flatow, Democratic candidates for Township Committee. It will also mark the start of the campaign for Anita Mount, candidate for tax collector.

Using the theme "For New Leadership", the Democrats are offering a full slate which also includes Eleanor Dearborn, running unopposed for tax assessor. The four candidates say they seek to bring vigorous, forward-looking government to the presently Republican-led Township.

The picnic will take place from 1 to 6 at the Liberty Social Club Grove on Rabbit Hill Road. Featuring "all you can eat," including hamburgers, hot dogs, corn, home-made salads, desserts and beverages, the event is being planned by Herbert Horowitz of 14 Jeffrey Lane, Princeton Junction.

WHY RATES ARE HIGH

Tight money and high interest on loans are having a profound impact on the public. While the average borrower understands generally why we are having inflation, many people are probably unfamiliar with the real causes and significance of high interest rates and money shortage.

Dr. Paul S. Nadler, Professor of Business Administration at Rutgers, has written three articles on this subject, which have been provided as a public service by the New Jersey Bankers Association.

For Borrowing Money. Why do interest rates go so high? Why are people sometimes turned down by their bank when they want a loan? Let's explore what makes money hard to get and expensive.

First, we recognize that there are times when the economy must face some restraints for its own good. We're in one, right now.

When the demand for goods and services is greater than supply, you get inflation. It drives up prices. It penalizes those on fixed incomes and pensions. It erodes the dollars you've saved and those you live on.

How can we reverse this pattern? One way would be to let the government step in and decide who gets what . . . and when . . . and how. This does not fit our concept of a free economy.

Partial Solution. Or, you can impose price and wage controls. Government has tried variations of this approach for two years. It's a partial solution, at best.

If you cannot increase the supply of goods and services, the basic way to control inflation is to limit demand.

In a free society, one of the best ways to do this is through monetary policy. By taking money out of the economy, the effective demand for goods is reduced. In other words, the desire to buy is dampened by the reduced availability of money to spend.

This is where the banks come in. To give our money supply flexibility our commercial banks have been given the power to create money when they make loans and investments. Since they have the ability to create money, bankers could conceivably add to inflation by providing the means to satisfy uncontrolled demand.

"Banker's Bank." But it doesn't work that way. The banking industry is controlled by the Federal Reserve System. It's sort of the "banker's bank".

It has the power to limit the total amount a bank can lend. It can make it difficult or impossible for a bank to obtain additional funds for this purpose.

So the bank ends up in the middle. When they cannot meet fully the demand for loans, they must become more selective.

Interest rates go up. Some loans must be turned down. The result is that banks, instead of government, are placed in the position of allocating funds.

The banks do this by the free approach of letting the market place decide who should get the funds and who should not. It's a solution most fitting for our form of free enterprise.

However, it makes the banker a "bad guy". The public frequently blames him for restraint that is not really of his making.

If inflation is to be stopped, someone must be restrained. And, in the United States, we feel the best and fairest way to do this is through monetary policy and control over the ability of the banks to make loans.

MANAGER PROMOTED

By New Jersey Bell. New Jersey Bell Telephone Company has announced the promotion of Donald H. O'Hara, Pennington - Lawrenceville Road, Pennington to manager of the company's Trenton commercial district.

Mr. O'Hara, who has been with the company since 1947, was manager of the Trenton residence office.

He is a director of the Trenton Chamber of Commerce Better Business Bureau. He is a senior pilot in the Civil Air Patrol, and a member of the executive boards of the American Red Cross, Mercer Street (Trenton) Friends Center and the Camp Fire Girls, Lenape Council.

Obituaries

Mrs. Adma Shehadi, 87, of 220 State Road, died August 30 in the Merwick unit of Princeton Medical Center. She was a native of Zahleh, Lebanon, and had been educated in Beirut at the British School for Women.

Mrs. Shehadi and her late husband, Shehadi A. Shehadi, had lived in Providence, R.I., until the outbreak of World War I, when they returned to Lebanon to aid in the relief of war refugees and orphans. He directed the American Red Cross program of relief work in the Near East.

For many years after the war, Mrs. Shehadi was occupied with women's educational activities at the American University of Beirut, where her husband was editor of various university publications and director of the Alumni Association. In recognition of her assistance in the latter organization, she was given the title of "Mother of All Alumni." When her husband died, Mrs. Shehadi returned to the western hemisphere and lived alternately with her children in this country and in Mexico.

Surviving are three sons, Dr. William Shehadi of Byram, Conn.; Fadlou Shehadi of Princeton; and Ramiz Shehadi of Mexico City; a daughter, Mrs. Helen Shehadi de Aboumarad of Mexico City; a sister, Mrs. Sophie S. Shehadi of Brooklyn; two brothers in Lebanon and 12 grandchildren. The funeral was held at the First Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Joseph O. Rand, Jr. and the Rev. William R. Forbes officiating. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery, under direction of the Kimble Funeral Home. Contributions may be made to the Adma Shehadi Memorial Scholarship Fund, care of the American University of Beirut, 305 E. 45th Street, New York.

Knute Lindtveit, 78, of Washington Avenue, Griggstown, died August 31 in Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Norway, he had lived in this country most of his life, working before his retirement as foreman for a dock building company. A U.S. Army veteran of World War I, he was a member of American Legion posts in Brooklyn and Franklin Park.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Dora Staalsen Lindtveit; a daughter, Mrs. Ralph Thompson of Griggstown; a brother, Ivar; a sister, Miss Margaret Lindtveit, both in Norway; and two grandchildren.

The service was held at the Mather Funeral Home, the Rev. Lee Crandall of the Griggstown Reformed Church officiating, with burial in Griggstown Cemetery. Contributions may be made to the Somerset County Mental Health Association.

Richard M. Daniels, 28, of 410 South Cook Avenue, Trenton, drowned August 28 in Prospectown. The assistant manager of Cox's Store, 182 Nassau Street, he had lived on Spring Street for a number of years.

A native of New York, Mr. Daniels was also a night student at Rider College.

Surviving are his wife, Linda Ann Daniels; two sons, Brian R. and David E., both at home; his father, Conrad Daniels of Georgia; his mother, Mrs. Impi Daniels of Maple Terrace; and three brothers, Conrad of California, John of Willingboro and Robert of Texas.

The funeral was held in Trenton.

Mrs. Lucille Kennedy of 21 Lytle Street died September 1. Born in Lehigh, Iowa, she had lived in Princeton for more than 60 years.

A member of the Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church, she also belonged to the Daughters of Issi, Khufu Court No. 118. Her husband, Roosevelt Kennedy, is her only near survivor.

The service will be held at 1:30 Thursday at the Hughes Funeral Home, Trenton, the Rev. Leon Gibson, pastor of her church, officiating. Burial will be in Princeton Cemetery.

Arthur Munster, 67, of 61 North Mill Road, Grovers Mill, died September 2 in Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Elmshorn, Germany, he had come to the United States in 1927. Mr. Munster had lived in Rocky Hill for 15 years before moving to Grovers Mill.

He was the owner of Hoyer and Munster, Rose Growers, in Penns Neck, which he had started 25 years ago. Mr. Munster belonged to the Lutheran Church of the Messiah, Princeton, and the National Nurserymen's Association.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Martha Koker Munster; a son, Roland, of Hamilton Square; two daughters, Mrs. Hertha Petrone and Mrs. Robert Marvin, both of Grovers Mill; a sister in Germany and three grandchildren.

The funeral was held at the Lutheran Church, with burial in Highland Cemetery, Hopewell. Arrangement were under direction of the Mather Funeral Home.

Mrs. Jessie A. Roberson, 67, of 140 Random Road died September 3 in Princeton Medical Center. A life long resident of Princeton, she was a member of the Nassau Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. T. Hart Anderson of Hopewell; two brothers, Nicholas Briggs, Jr. of Kingston and Danny Briggs of Hamilton; five sisters, Mrs. Mabel Stout of Morrisville, Mrs. William Salzman of Princeton, Mrs. Mamie Speinheimer and Mrs. Horace Sassman of Kingston, Mrs. Edward Mehl of Monmouth Junction; and two grandchildren.

The service will be held Thursday at 2 at the Mather Funeral Home. Interment will be in Princeton Cemetery.

"LOST" PLANETS TOPIC
Of State Museum Program. In the more than 350 years since the invention of the telescope, only three new planets — Uranus, Neptune and Pluto — have been discovered. During that same period, however, a number of other planets have been reportedly observed or predicted by theory, but all such reports have proved to be unfounded.

Case histories of these lost and found planets will be the subject of the public programs at the New Jersey State Museum Planetarium from September 8 through October 28.

Using the Planetarium's ability to transcend time, the lecturer will take his audience back almost 200 years to hear William Herschel's words upon the discovery of Uranus. The audience will help to seek Planet X among the stars. And they will join in a futile search for the planet Vulcan during the fleeting moments of a total solar eclipse.

This spectacular program will be shown at 2, 3 and 4 p.m. each Saturday and Sunday and also on Columbus Day (October 8) and Veteran's Day (October 22). Children must be at least seven years old to be admitted.

There is no charge for Planetarium programs. Free tickets are distributed first come, first served beginning half an hour before each showing.

TENNIS FINALS SET

In West Windsor. After two months of competition, a champion should be declared this Thursday night in the West Windsor Recreation Department's men's doubles tennis league.

Representing the 8:30 p.m. league are the White Sox team of Jim Ruch, Bob Shaff and Harry Wyckoff, who finished with 12 points, 6 ahead of four teams tied for second.

Representative of the 7 p.m. league will be determined by playoffs held Tuesday and Wednesday. On Tuesday the Pirates, Bob Duncan, Vic Payne and Frank Wendt, faced the Reds, Ralph Bloom, Dave Singer and Jim Brown. To settle a second place tie the winner plays the first place Dodgers Tom Boyer, John Perlitz and Bernd Midland, for the right to meet the White Sox in the finals.

On Saturday the Recreation Department's annual fall tennis tournaments begin. Open to West Windsor residents only, the meet features men's and women's doubles and will be held Sunday also and will conclude the next weekend.

ANY ROBIN HOODS?

Archery Teacher Sought. If you can teach archery, West Windsor recreation director Bernd Midland is looking for you.

Mr. Midland, a member of the Recreation Committee, is seeking a volunteer instructor who will enable the committee to continue its archery in struction program started last fall. Those interested should call Mr. Midland at 799-1642.

AS SUMMER ENDS . . .
YWCA Plans For Fall. The YWCA has a number of pleasant exercise classes for women lined up for this fall. Aerobics will include jogging, swimming, biking and hiking in a long-range health-giving program.

The Bicycle Club and the canoeing, hiking, sailing classes combine the learning of outdoor skills with a view of the autumn colors. Dance classes are offered in the form of ballet for children and adults. Creative Modern Dance, Hula and Tahitian Exercise, and Exotic Dance.

Helen Kohut, the Ballet teacher, has recently completed a refresher course for teachers of the Margot Fonteyn Syllabus of the Royal Academy of Dancing in America. Judo and Yoga will have more extensive classes.

Badminton, paddleball, tennis and volleyball classes will start in September. For those who want to slim down, three different slimnastics courses will be held, as well as gymnastics and swimming classes. And the health and fitness club and the body shop class will really take care of any post-summer problems of overweight.

Registration for these classes and many others will be held at the YWCA on Avalon Place on Monday, September 10 and Tuesday, September 11. Brochures will be sent to all residents of the area. For questions and additional information, please call the Y at 924-4825.

TOWN TOPICS is delivered without charge to every home in Princeton Borough and Township and to part or all of West Windsor, Lawrence, Hopewell, Montgomery, South Brunswick and Franklin Townships and Griggstown. At all newsstands, including TOWN TOPICS' office, it costs 15c.

News Of The CHURCHES

INTERIM PASTOR NAMED

At Nassau Presbyterian. While the newly merged Nassau Presbyterian Church continues its search for a new senior minister, an interim preacher has been hired to handle the majority of the Sunday worship services at the church.

He is Dr. John Meister, of the Council of Theological Education at the United Presbyterian Church headquarters in New York. A resident of Titusville, Dr. Meister will continue his work in New York and deliver sermons at Nassau Presbyterian every Sunday except one each month until the new senior minister is named.

The interim minister will preach this Sunday at 9:45 a.m. in the Chambers Street building and at 11:15 in the Palmer Square building.

First Presbyterian Church and St. Andrew's Presbyterian, the two merging partners in Nassau Presbyterian, were both without senior ministers at the time of the union last June.

One of the first orders of business since then has been to find a new head man who would lead the unified congregations and help them establish a new sense of identity.

Search in Progress. The hiring of Dr. Meister is seen as a first step in that direction. With an outsider, neither of the two former congregations will identify more strongly than the other with the preacher. Also, the existing staff of ministers already has fulltime responsibilities within the church.

They will rotate preaching duties on the Sundays Dr. Meister has off.

Search for the new minister is progressing "well," said Mrs. Ralph Bloom, a member of the search committee. "If we say anything more than that the public might jump to the conclusion that we'll have a new man next week."

When Nassau Presbyterian was formed the new unified search committee completed a new church information form — a kind of job description sheet listing activities, missions, and types of Sunday services the church desired.

Session Retreat. "That had to be redone with the emergence of a new church," said Mrs. Bloom. "From that form we have received several dossiers of people likely to be considered for the job."

The search committee has been meeting once a week throughout the summer. In that time the church session, or governing board, has met twice to begin the long process of establishing a policy and direction of the new church.

On September 15, at a site not yet determined, the session will continue its work at a day-long retreat.

"A great many practical problems remain to be solved," said Mrs. Elsa Granade, chairman of the worship committee and a member of the session. "We're still looking for the best ways to mix and blend these two groups into one."

ORPHANAGE RAZING SET. St. Michael's Vacated. One of the last true orphanages in the state, St. Michael's Home for Children in Hopewell, is scheduled for demolition early this month.

Operated by the Diocese of Trenton since 1898, St. Michael's population dwindled to about 50 children this year. Its capacity was 450. Operating deficits, meanwhile, rose from $21,000 in 1968 to $195,000 last year.

By June 29 of this year, all of the St. Michael's children had been placed either in other institutions or in private homes. By last week the four-story brick structure had been cleared of most of its furnishings.

Earlier, the remains of Bishop Michael J. O'Farrell were removed from a crypt in the chapel. Bishop O'Farrell initiated plans for the structure in the 1890s, but died in 1894.

The remains of Colonel Daniel Morris, who donated $50,000 to the home and who donated money to the rehabilitation center named in his memory on Route 206 are still buried on the grounds of St. Michael's. They will be exhumed later, since state law forbids exhumation between April and October.

DYED IN THE WOOL: Lindo Berry, one of 45 artists and craftsmen who will display their work Saturday at the Griggstown Country Festival, demonstrates how she dyes wool into an array of colors by boiling it with tea, marigolds and bark. The festival, held on the grounds of the Griggstown Reformed Church from 11 to 5, will also feature folk dancing, blue grass music, games, an auction, flea market and second-hand book stall. Plants, shrubs and several varieties of day lilies will be on sale.

No auction will be held to dispose of the remaining furnishings at the home. Twelve other Catholic Welfare offices in the state had first pick of the beds, dressers, desks, toys and clothing in the home, and, according to a worker at St. Michael's, "there just wasn't enough left to support an auction."

CHRISTMAS PLANS BEGUN

At Trinity Church. While others have been working to heat the summer heat, a group of parishoners at Trinity Episcopal Church has been organizing a Christmas Fair to raise funds for additional church and community programs.

Beginning Tuesday, September 11, and continuing every Tuesday and Thursday thereafter, church members will make items to be sold at the fair, including specialty sewing, needlepoint, tree ornaments, stocking stuffers, arts and crafts, and dried flower arrangements.

This month the church will hang a commissioned water color of the church in the Parish House. Painted by Don Weldon, the work will be given to the winner of a special drawing that will be made at the Christmas Fair.

The fair is scheduled for Saturday, November 24, from 10 to 6.

Other projects planned for the fair, which will be open to the public, are a teen booth, Alaskan and Indonesian art, gourmet foods and a children's midway.

Mrs. George D. Fowle and Mrs. T. Peirce Hunter are co-chairmen of the event.

BULLETIN NOTES

The first rehearsal for the senior choir at Princeton United Methodist Church will be Thursday at 7:30 p.m. High school students are welcomed. Rehearsals for children's choirs begin September 12.

924-2613 or 924-0875 for age groups and times.

The church's regular worship schedule resumes this Sunday, with the service at 11 a.m. Church school for grades kindergarten through eighth will also be at 11.

The last gospel science film sponsored by Westerly Road Church will be shown Friday at 8:45 and 9:20 p.m. in the Princeton Shopping Center parking lot near the Dairy Queen. The film is called "Facts of Faith" and demonstrates the unique characteristics of high frequency electricity.

The Jewish Center's Women's Division begins its fall activities Tuesday with a 12:30 luncheon at the center, 435 Nassau Street. All women who have joined or who plan to join the Jewish Center are welcomed. The cost is $2. Babysitting is available. For information and reservations call 799-1561.

Other activities planned by the Women's Division include a book fair, a rummage sale, an arts and crafts workshop, and a panel discussion on the role of women in a man's world.

The gospel-science film series sponsored by the Westerly Road Church concludes Friday, September 7, with the showing of "Facts of Faith" at the Princeton Shopping Center Parking lot near the Dairy Queen. This Friday the film is entitled "God of Creation." Showings are at 8:45 and 9:20 p.m.

Morning Star Church of God in Christ, 43½ Birch Avenue, will hold a chicken and ham dinner this Saturday from noon until 6. Donation is $2. Call 924-5478 for information.

Prince of Peace Lutheran Church resumes its regular fall schedule Sunday, September 16, with church service at 9:30 and Sunday School at 10:30. This Sunday at 9:30 the Rev. Norman Nuding will preach in the Maurice Hawk School on Clarksville Road, Princeton Junction.

What a Rolls Royce is to cars...

What a diamond is to gems...

Meerschaum is to pipes. A true pipe smoker knows this; that's why his collection is not complete without a meerschaum.

John David Ltd. is fortunate and proud to have a collection of over 300 meerschaums, carved by the foremost sculpture in Turkey. Come in for a closer look at this complete line of pipes on Friday, September 7th, from 10 AM to 9 PM and Saturday, September 8th, from 10 AM to 6 PM.

It might entice you to purchase a meerschaum of your own. Also a perfect gift for Christmas giving.

Do come in.

WE THINK PRINCETON IS PRETTY DEAD IN SOME WAYS

Like where can a non-drinker or a teenager go to sip a cider and listen to soft jazz or a quiet folksinger? Where can you hear a poet read? Where can strangers make new friends over chess or Scrabble? Where, for that matter, do parents of teenagers feel comfortable in the same setting where teenagers congregate?

We don't know of a place in Princeton where these things go on.

Here at FLIGHT 2, people ask us these questions. Every year our office becomes a "drop in" center for people asking, "Where do you go . . . ?" This year, FLIGHT 2 wants to create an answer:

FLIGHT 2 proposes to run a community coffeehouse in Princeton.

We think a coffeehouse will be a lot of "answers" under one roof. Like Quiet music by local folk and jazz people. Like informal and gownsies, blacks and whites. We don't propose anything elaborate, but we do propose something exciting. A place with paintings and photographs by local artists in regularly changing shows. A clean and cozy place. A place where people talk to each other.

Perhaps you wonder why we are devoting an ad to proposing a coffeehouse run by FLIGHT 2? FLIGHT 2 is a community supported youth organization. YOU are the community. We want and need YOUR support for this project. We have the enthusiasm and even the skill to make a community coffeehouse a credit to Princeton. But there is much we need: We need a useable space of 800 sq. ft. or more. We need chairs, tables, waffle-irons, teapots. Maybe a cash register or an air conditioner?

Your support can make a real difference in Princeton! Please Help!

Egyptian houses were built with a central court or in the form of a compact block of rooms. Sometimes houses were built in an L-shape with the other two sides of the rectangular yard enclosed with walls. This same form was common throughout Greece and Rome. The open court came to be surrounded by a covered colonnaded passageway called the peristyle.

Learn more about different styles of homes by those at WALTER B. HOWE INC., 1 Palmer Sq. (924-0095), Pennington (737-3301) and W. Windsor (799-1100). Open 9-9, Sat. 9-5, Sun. 1-5. Friendly service extended to all. List your home with us for a quick and profitable sale.

HELPFUL HINT: Screens and storm windows in good repair are an important selling point for some houses.

Egyptian houses were built with a central court or in the form of a compact block of rooms. Sometimes houses were built in an L-shape with the other two sides of the rectangular yard enclosed with walls. This same form was common throughout Greece and Rome. The open court came to be surrounded by a covered colonnaded passageway called the peristyle.

Learn more about different styles of homes by those at WALTER B. HOWE INC., 1 Palmer Sq. (924-0095), Pennington (737-3301) and W. Windsor (799-1100). Open 9-9, Sat. 9-5, Sun. 1-5. Friendly service extended to all. List your home with us for a quick and profitable sale.

HELPFUL HINT: Screens and storm windows in good repair are an important selling point for some houses.

"Back Acres," Mantgomery Township

This magnificent contemporary villa is just a few minutes from downtown Princeton yet nestled in a stocked country setting overlooking a delightful brook. Creatively designed and custom built the house has a style all its own. The 30x60 ft. heated atrium is the point de reunion with heated pool, fig tree, and plant covered flagstone terrace in a Mediterranean-like setting. Off of the atrium is a living room with fireplace, dining room, family room with fireplace, eat-in kitchen and a master suite with separate dressing areas and bath. There are four to five bedrooms in all if one counts the elaborate mother-in-law wing which can be shut off completely from the rest of the house if desired as a self sufficient apartment. The best of everything throughout and the best of two worlds for $155,000

"In A West Windsor Park"

On a delightful West Windsor cul de sac surrounded by a wonderful park is an exceptional four bedroom two story colonial. From the stunning formal living room to the pleasantly paneled family room and large eat-in kitchen the keynote is spaciousness. Even the master bedroom suite is uniquely large and private. Centrally air conditioned throughout and available in time for school. $59,900

"Prince Town Colonial"

This two story Colonial in Princeton has a slate cover a living room with fireplace, small study, two full baths three bedrooms and a pleasant front porch with a swing. $51,000

AN ANSWER TO YOUR DREAMS . . . Can be found in this beautiful 2 story contemporary on a large hillside lot in Mountainview, Ewing Township. A curved walk from the driveway to front covered entry opens to a large red carpeted foyer. The large living room has a raised fireplace with slate hearth. Den, dining room, eat-in kitchen, laundry and powder room make up the remainder of first floor. Upstairs are four bedrooms and two baths. The master bedroom has a dressing room with built-in make-up area and a large master bath. Oh yes the house has central air conditioning. The lovely view outside is accented by numerous shade trees, shrubs and pachysandra. Don't pass this one by $50,500

BE THE FIRST . . . to occupy this nearly completed Cape Cod in Hopewell Township. Wait 'til you see the large living room with a brick fireplace and a 12' window unit that faces the Sourland for a sweeping view of the countryside. Then there is the den, large modern kitchen, dining room, and first floor bedroom and bath. Upstairs you'll find 2 large bedrooms and a full bath. Add to this a 2 car garage, front and rear porch, basement and ideal location
$59,500

WORRIED ABOUT YOUR DOWN PAYMENT . . . Don't. Owner willing to assist a qualified buyer on this all brick rancher. It sounds almost too good to be true, because this house, located in Hopewell Township is loaded with charm, and many "extras". Here are the basics — living room, dining room, family room with brick fireplace, kitchen-breakfast area, foyer with flagstone floor, nursery-study, four bedrooms and 3 baths. The other brick fireplace in the basement which has a large recreation room, beautiful bar with sink, paneled walls and tiled floor. Here are the "extras" — hot air oil fired heat with humidifier, underground lawn sprinkler system, lightning rod, front covered porch with flagstone floor, intercom system through most of house, and of course, loads of trees shrubs and flowering bushes. You can't refuse all this for only $79,900

COLONIAL CHARM . . . Is abundant throughout this large 2 story frame home. The large living room has an old colonial brick walk-in fireplace with brick hearth, lot swing arm, bread oven and log storage. Family room has beamed ceilings, wall to wall shag rug, and entry to rear porch. Large kitchen with pine cabinets, dining room has random width floors and closed fireplace which could be opened. The stairs to second floor are carpeted, leading to 4 bedrooms and family bath master bedroom has fireplace. This large beauty is located in the heart of historical Pennington. A large 2 car barn has been recently repaired and painted. Landscaping adds to the beauty . . .

COUNTRY LOVERS

ATTENTION, MR. EXECUTIVE — This impressive two story Williamsburg design colonial residence is located on Wargo Road, a country road in Hopewell Township. It is an ideal location just minutes from Princeton and Hopewell for the busy commuter.

The floor plan offers 9'x14' center hall, spacious living room for formal entertaining. There is a delightful family room with log burning fireplace, a 14'x23' summer porch with a view of green meadows and distant hills. The wood grained custom cabinet kitchen has a large breakfast area. A laundry and powder room complete the first floor plan. Upstairs there are three generous sized bedrooms for the children and a master bedroom suite with individual bath. The architect provided excellent individual closet space for everyone's clothes.

Children can romp and play outdoors in the fresh country air. There is ample room for Mother's flower or herb garden. Modestly priced at $65,000

NO HUSTLE AND BUSTLE HERE, just the evening sounds of singing crickets or a distant moo from a farmer's contented cow on a cool summer night. You may totally relax in this delightful semi-rural setting just minutes from Princeton.

This brand new ranch on Bradford Lane in Hopewell Township is available for immediate occupancy. The builder has hand crafted a quality home with unbelievably low maintenance. This spacious one level residence offers a 13' by 31' living room and dining area with southerly exposure, country kitchen with dishwasher and electric range. There is a brick fireplace in the family room that will be enjoyed by everyone on those cold winter nights. Three generous sized bedrooms and separate study for Dad (or that often needed fourth bedroom.) two ceramic tiled baths with custom vanity. Mother's laundry and sewing center is an added feature that avoids stair climbing. The full basement with added ceiling height can be utilized as a home craft center or added storage. In addition there is storage area in the two car attached garage. You will be most impressed with the peaceful setting, the quality construction, and an outstanding floor plan. We can arrange the financing or will consider a trade of your present home. $64,000
